2 GIRLS HURT IN 4-VEHICLE CRASH MONDAY

Two Shippensburg area young women suffered minor injuries Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock when their car was one of three autos and a truck involved in an accident 11 miles west of here on the Lincoln Highway.

State police said Daniel Gartside, 45, Chambersburg R. 2, driving a truck loaded with logs east on the Lincoln Highway, stopped because of a west-bound school bus which had halted to discharge passengers.

Glenn Vincent Hamilton, 43, Anderson, Ind., was following the truck. Following Hamilton was a French-made compact sedan operated by Juanita Darlene Weaver, 18, Shippensburg R. 2. Following Miss Weaver was a car operated by Nelson Wiles, 20, Gettysburg R. 2.

CRASH, CRASH, CRASH
As police reconstructed the incident from interviewing the participants, Hamilton saw the truck stopping ahead but discovered he was going too fast to stop immediately behind the truck. He swerved his car to the right. It hit guard rails and bounced back.

Miss Weaver, attempting to avoid the accident she saw developing ahead of her, swerved to the left. At that moment the rear of the Hamilton car, bouncing back, slammed into the right side of Miss Weaver's French auto and at the same moment the Wiles car smashed into the rear of the Weaver auto. The impact of the two cars, hitting the little sedan, drove Miss Weaver's car under the rear of the truck.

Gettysburg firemen's ambulance was summoned to remove Miss Weaver and her companion in the car, Miss Betty McKenrick, 17, Shippensburg R. 2, to the Warner Hospital. They were treated there for cuts about the legs.

Police estimated damage to the Hamilton car at $800, to Miss Weaver's vehicle, which was demolished, at $600, to Wiles' auto at $300 and to the truck, $15.

ADVERTISING IS TOPIC FOR TALK TO LIONS

"Advertising meets more people, more often and more economically than any other sales means and it is here to stay," C. William Harbaugh, Biglerville advertising consultant, told members of the Gettysburg Lions Club in a talk Monday evening at the Varsity Diner.

Speaking of the meteoric increase in the investment in advertising by American business since World War II, Mr. Harbaugh said any advertising media must find the audience its client seeks and rifle a message to it. "Advertising is basic to the cause of free enterprise," he said.

He noted that spending for advertising reached $3.4 billion in the 1920's, declined in depression years but rocketed to over $12 billion at the beginning of this decade. The prediction for 1970 is more than $18 billion, he added.

TWO DONATIONS
Using 15 full-page advertisements from national magazines, seeking to sell a variety of products, Harbaugh said modern advertising aims to "build a brand image, build a corporation image and secure an immediate sales response."

President Sterling Muselman presided at the meeting and a meeting of the board of directors which followed.

Recent payments from the club's charity fund were announced as follows: Cancer Crusade, $25, and Martin Optical, $12. It was announced that the club will not meet next Monday evening. Wilbur Varian showed a color film of the recent square dance party held by the club members and their ladies at the Gettysburg Country Club.

MARKET IMPROVES
NEW YORK (AP)—Gains by steels, rails and selected issues featured an improving stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Gains of most key stocks were fractional and there were plenty of losers. Specially-situated issues and some higher-priced stocks rebounding from recent losses showed wider gains.

Defer Firing Moonship

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The first attempt to orbit an unmanned model of the Apollo moonship was postponed today to Thursday because of a frozen nitrogen valve in the ground support equipment.

The trouble occurred after the countdown on the giant Saturn I booster rocket had advanced to within an hour and 55 minutes of the scheduled launching time.

After wrestling unsuccessfully with the problem for nearly three hours, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration called off the shot for two days. The time is required to replace the faulty valve and check out the new system.

The valve is part of a system which pumps liquid nitrogen to cool an instrument package between the top of the rocket and the Apollo space craft.

6 BANDS AND DRUM CORPS TO MARCH MAY 30

Six bands and one drum corps are to provide the music in the 97th annual Memorial Day parade here Saturday afternoon.

Mayor William G. Weaver, secretary of the Memorial Day committee, said the Gettysburg Senior High School Band, the Gettysburg Junior High School Band, Bermudian Springs High School Band, Biglerville High School Band, Delone Catholic High School Band, Fairfield High School Band and the Hanover American Legion "Lancers" Drum and Bugle Corps have announced plans to participate in the procession starting at 2 o'clock.

According to present plans, the Gettysburg Senior High School Band will move at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the high school to Lincoln Square where it will play a brief concert.

The band will play in the square for review of the U. S. Air Force Honor Guard by Lt. Gen. John Weikert, and will provide the music for precision drill maneuvers by the honor guard. The 26-man honor guard drill team will arrive here Saturday morning and will dine at the American Legion home, Baltimore St. at 11:45 Saturday morning, preceding the demonstration at the Square.

TO REVIEW COLUMN
At 1:45 the drill team and senior high school band will leave the square to join military units, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and other elements of the parade — excluding the school children — gathered at the Meade School on Spring Ave.

The speaker and guests, who will watch the honor guard drill in the square, will then move to the intersection of Steinwehr Ave. and Baltimore St. to review the parade from that point.

The more than 1,000 public and parochial school children will meet this year for the first time at the high school grounds. They will move out for the cemetery from the high school at 2 o'clock — the same hour at which the remainder of the parade, starting from Springs Ave., will begin to move.

400 GUARDSMEN
The Gettysburg Junior High School band will begin to move.

RECAPTURE SECTOR
Amkha said a battalion of neutralist infantry, 19 tanks and 8 armored cars, which had been routed from their headquarters at Muong Kheung, on the north-west fringe of the strategic plain recaptured two-thirds of the sector.

Prince Souvanna warned the National Assembly that if Muong Soui fell, the Communists would threaten the royal capital of Luang Prabang and Vang Vieng on the main road south to Vientiane.

Some 2,500 right-wing troops were spread out in a defense line above Borikhan, about 25 air miles east of Vientiane. The village is the last major right-wing defense point between another Communist force and the rightist-controlled town of Pak-sane, on the Mekong River border with Thailand.

REJECT PEACE TALKS
The Communists captured the town of Tha Thom 12 days ago and are using it as a base for a move against Borikhan less than 20 miles away.

Souvanna told the assembly he rejected an invitation by the Pathet Lao chief, Prince Souphanouvong, to go to his Khang Khay, headquarters for peace talks. Souvanna said he asked Souphanouvong to meet with him at Luang Prabang.

Diplomatic sources said Britain is considering issuing invitations for a consultation here of ambassadors from the 14 nations of the Geneva conference on Laos to discuss steps to avoid further deterioration of the situation.

Communist countries are demanding a full-fledged Geneva conference be reconvened and are not expected to take part in local consultations.

764 GUESTS AT MAIN BANQUET FOR TEMPLARS

One of the main events of the 11th annual convocation of the Grand Commandery Knights Templar being held here this week was the Grand Commander's dinner given in the Gettysburg College dining hall Monday evening. Sir Knight John P. Wildasin, commander of Division 16 and general convocation chairman, presided and welcomed the 764 guests, many of whom were in uniform.

The invocation, "Let Us Break Bread Together" was sung by Sir Knight Joseph Rojahn, York, accompanied by Mrs. Meyrick O. Mills. He also sang as the benediction "Lo, I Am With You Always."

GUEST SPEAKER

The speaker was John H. Seeton, secretary of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, author, lecturer and executive, and a lieutenant retired in the U.S. Naval Reserve. He spoke humorously on "How to Have a Heart Attack." He said he thought the term "tired blood" came to be used because the muscle we call the heart has to pump the same five quarts of blood continuously through the body. He listed some factors for heart attacks, such as age, 45 in men to 55 in women; sex, six times as many men as women have them; city life and inactivity; fatty diet; overweight, although as many thin people have coronaries; prosperity, more rich people have them. After listing all the ways a person can have a "nice clean heart attack" he consoled his listeners by saying "four out of five survive heart attacks, so keep trying. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes when he made the decision to become the head of the Supreme Court said "Life is action and passion. It is required of a man to serve

SCOUTS GIVEN TWO PRESENTS BY KIWANIS

The Black Walnut Boy Scout District was presented with a record player and a projector by the Kiwanis Club at its meeting Monday evening in Recreation Park.

President Clyde Markle made the presentation to Dr. W. E. Tilberg who represented the Scout district.

Steven Swartz, a Cub Scout; Michael Adair, a Boy Scout of Troop 78, and Randy Hartlaub, an Explorer from Post 79, were special guests of the club.

In accepting the gift Dr. Tilberg reviewed the work and formation of the Black Walnut District.

30 YEARS' PROGRESS
He recalled that more than 30 years ago the York-Adams Area Council was formed and four Boy Scout troops were established in Gettysburg, making the start of modern Scouting in the area. For 20 years previously there had been Scout troops in the area but there was no council or district organization to serve them and most, after a period, passed out of existence, Dr. Tilberg said.

"Roses Should Be Loved But Not Spoiled," Says E. Carey

"Roses should be loved but not spoiled," members of the Annie M. Warner Hospital Auxiliary were told Monday afternoon by a rose authority who addressed the group on "Summer Care of Roses" at a meeting in the hospital dining room.

Earl Carey, Biglerville postmaster and prize-winning rose grower, said, "Roses are like children. The more they are pampered the more care they require." He advised regular feedings and sprays to encourage proper summer growth and successful control of pests and diseases, but warned against supplemental watering in normal weather lest the roots become lazy and fail to reach out for moisture.

PEST CONTROL
He said, "there is no need to sacrifice roses for pests" and discussed the application of sprays and dusting materials for pest control. He said that he uses liquid applications on his 150 rose bushes because the spray leaves no discoloration on buds and is considerably less expensive than many of the dust materials.

He advised an application of fertilizer after the June bloom and strongly recommended a mulch "that will keep the ground cool and will not absorb too much of the moisture." He revealed that he used buckwheat hulls on his rose beds to provide summer protection from the heat and to permit water to penetrate the cover. He pointed out that roses require an inch of water a week and cautioned gardeners to avoid wetting the leaves of plants late in the evening. He also recommended cutting buds "only as long as necessary" to permit the stems to develop properly.

BRIEF MEETING

The rose discussion followed a brief business meeting at which Mrs. John D. Teeter, chairman of the horse show committee, said "this year's show will be one of the finest we've ever had." She said that the committee is attempting to sell 1,000 tickets for the affair June 21 at Twin Lakes where ring-side automobile reservations are available at $2 each. Tickets are 50 cents each.

Man Injured When Bike, Auto Collide

Cleason Fair, 45 Breckenridge St., suffered a bruise on the left side of his forehead when a bicycle he was riding and car operated by Richard Spalding, 43 W. Middle St., collided at 6 o'clock Monday evening.

According to the borough police report sheet, Spalding was driving north on S. Franklin St. when Fair rode his bicycle out of the alley beside the United Telephone Co. garage, and when he sought to stop for the intersection, the brakes of the 'cycle failed. Fair, according to police, sought to avoid a collision, but his bicycle and the car were in a collision.

The front wheel of the bicycle was badly damaged and there was damage to the right head light of the car.

CANVASS BY FIREMEN IS COMPLETED

The annual solicitation of the Gettysburg Fire Department for funds was completed Monday night, Chairman Joseph Sanders and Robert Hefflin announced.

While admitting that "the amount raised so far is several hundred dollars under the total received last year," the chairman were of the belief that persons who may have been missed in the canvass will forward their donations and that the canvass will conclude with a total as high as last year's.

The chairman asked persons who were not at home during the time of solicitation and who wish to donate to either send their contribution to the fire house or call there and a fireman will go to the home to pick up the donation.

Both chairmen expressed their appreciation for the "manner in which our canvassers were received. We appreciate the way in which the people of our area respond to this annual drive which helps keep the fire department in first class shape." The funds donated go toward equipment, which is continuously being added to as new types of equipment becomes available, or replaced, as items become older. At the present time the company is scheduled to purchase a new ambulance within the next year or so to replace the older of the present two ambulances. Another future acquisition for which the firemen are planning now is a new ladder truck to replace the present truck when proposed changes in the fire house enlarge it sufficiently to permit a ladder truck to be stored in the fire house.

TWO TEACHERS SELECTED BY COUNTY BOARD

The Adams County board of school directors at a regular meeting Monday evening elected two special education teachers for next September and chose a new board treasurer to take over that office after July 1.

County Superintendent of Schools M. Francis Coulson in whose Carlisle St. office the meeting was held said there are three other special education positions yet to be filled in the county.

Terry G. Fox, 29 E. Lincoln Ave., who will graduate from the Shippensburg State College next month, was elected as a special education teacher at the secondary level at a salary of $5,000 for a 9½-month term.

HARTLAUB CHOSEN

Mrs. June R. Camac, Camp Hill, a Bucknell University graduate, was elected as an elementary special education teacher at $5,000. Neither new teacher has been assigned finally to any of the vacancies that exist.

The board also adjusted the salary of Miss Anna Jean Dockey, New Oxford, who was elected earlier in the year as a special education teacher. She had been elected at $4,800 but her salary Monday was advanced to $5,000 to conform to salaries for positions filled recently.

Fred H. Hartlaub, Mt. Pleasant Twp., who was elected last December to take office as a member of the county board July 1, was elected as the next board treasurer to succeed Earl Hartzell, Fairfield, whose place he will take on the county board.

The Adams County National Bank was designated as the new depository for county school funds. The Biglerville National has been the depository for the last two years.

9 STUDENTS TAKE OVER AT ROTARY CLUB

Gettysburg High School students who during the last year served a month each as a "Junior Rotarian" conducted the program Monday evening for the Rotary meeting in the YWCA.

Ronald Miller served as "president" and Richard Jones as "program chairman" for the session at which the students filled all the offices, led the group singing, kept the attendance and even named a "Senior Rotarian of the Month."

Ronald Miller presided as the president. The "Senior Rotarian of the Month" was introduced by Robert Stokes and it turned out to be his father, Dr. M. L. Stokes.

HEAR EXCHANGE STUDENT

Richard Jones, who was program chairman, called upon a number of Rotarians to give brief talks among them Dr. John Zinn, Rev. Robert MacAskill and Dr. Richard Newsham.

Carlos Welch, Brazilian exchange student at Gettysburg High School, was the featured speaker. Praising the American Field Service exchange program by which he came to Gettysburg High School for this year, he said that only "by living in a country can you get to know it. All we knew in Brazil was what we saw in the movies. And there we saw cowboys shooting Indians, gangsters fighting each other and the police and the people who were exceedingly rich had many cars in their garages and servants."

"When you come here you find that most people are not very rich, all seem to have to work very hard, and while there are cars in nearly every garage, the cars are a necessity here. In Brazil we consider them a luxury. Only since 1957 have cars been built in Brazil, and so the imported cars were all that was available and they are very expensive."

ANOTHER RT. 15 CASE ON TRIAL

Trial of the appeal from decision of the board of viewers concerning damages caused to the property of Milton L. and Mae Belle Sachs in Cumberland Twp. by the new Route 15, east of town, began in court this morning.

Testimony showed the state Highways Department took 20 acres of land from the Sachs farm along Gettysburg R. 1 in connection with the construction of the new road and severed 44 acres from the remainder of the farm.

Damage to the farm was outlined to the jury by Mr. Sachs who gave no estimate of a monetary amount of damage to his property.

His son, John M. Sachs, estimated the farm as worth $69,120 before the road was built and $40,120 afterward. Gettysburg Realtor Lee M. Hartman said he estimated the farm was worth $60,480 prior to the taking of land and $34,533 afterward.

Three neighbors of Mr. Sachs gave their estimates of the value of the property before and after the road was constructed.

Paul E. Dorr listed the prior value at $50,000 and the value since the taking at $25,000. Vernon O. Baker said his estimates were $60,000 before and $35,000 after taking. Harry E. Around The Town

Among other things a policeman has to be a good arbitrator.

Take Saturday night for instance.

Borough police got a call that a lady wanted to see them on W. Middle St.

According to the police report an officer went in answer to the call.

He found a mother and her two children in a car.

The mother and the father, it seems, had had a dispute and the father had left wife, children, car and all.

While the policeman was being told this, the father appeared.

When he saw the policeman he began to run the other way.

Policeman caught up with father on Howard Ave. and had a talk with him.

Father agreed to come back and take the wife and kids home.

Policeman resumed his patrol of the town.

Silver Run Folk Have Blood Typed

Fifty-four residents of the Silver Run, Md., area signed as potential blood donors for the Warner Hospital at a "blood typing" program held in the Charles Carroll School Monday night under sponsorship of the Lions Club.

Members of the laboratory staff from the hospital were conducting the program were Technicians Mrs. Wayne Criswell, Mrs. Robert Smith, Miss Lucille Miller and Miss Jane M. Stallsmith, and a secretary, Miss Ann Armbr.

Dr. C. Harold Johnson, pathologist at the local hospital, in expressing his appreciation to the Silver Run residents and Lions noted a need for blood donors from various areas and said the staff at the hospital laboratory "is only too happy" to go to various localities to type potential blood donors when organizations set up such events.

Securing blood donors is more difficult in summer than during the winter months, he said, because approximately 200 Gettysburg College students who volunteer as donors are not in the area during the vacation period.

SCOUTS GIVEN

At the present time there are more than 900 boys in the various Cub, Scout and Explorer units in the Black Walnut District. It is estimated that for any given year about 1,300 boys receive Scouting experiences in the district. The 900 figure is based upon actual numbers at time of registration but each year a number of boys "graduate" from Scouting while others are coming in and thus in any given year there are more boys in a Scout unit than actually appear at registration time, Dr. Tilberg said.

Some 400 adults, including about 100 den mothers, are in charge of the Scouting program in the district, he said.

"When I came here I found you go to school at 8:30 and finish at 3:30 and then begin to study. At the beginning of the year I was quite tired trying to keep up, but now I have no difficulties. "Here your social life is bound up with the school. In Brazil our dances, our social life are all out of school. Here you start a party at 7:30 and it is over by 12 at the latest. In Brazil parties start at 11:30 and go on to 4 or 5 in the morning."

BRAZIL'S CHANGE "GOOD"

"We have no curfew and when I first heard of it here I wondered what it was."

"I have been asked about the revolution in my native land. I am pleased with the change. Perhaps I should not say it, but it appeared to me that our former president was going too much to the left. In Brazil 45 per cent of the people cannot read or write, so the Communists could take over. Goulart was seeking to make the Communist party legal. I am afraid it that trend had continued Brazil could have become a second Cuba."

Walter B. Lane presented gavels to the youths as a gift from the Rotary Club. G. Henry Roth spoke briefly in praise of the local high school students.

School Band will accompany the school children, with the Gettysburg Senior High School Band leading the other division of the parade.

It is anticipated, according to Jarad Marshal LeRoy H. Winebrenner, the last of the school children will reach Baltimore St. from the high school lot at the moment the head of the remainder of the parade reaches Wainwright Ave.

Included in the military portion of the parade will be 400 Pennsylvania National Guardsmen, from four units of the 28th Division.

A special plea has been made for Boy Scout, Cub Scout, Explorer Scout and Girl Scout units to take part in the parade and carry flowers to be strewn on the graves at the cemetery. While the school children place flowers on the Civil War section of graves, the Boy and Girl Scouts strewn flowers on the veterans' graves from the other wars in which the nation has participated.

U. S. Senator Bourke B. Hickman will be the speaker at the Cemetery exercises.

Later in the evening the troop visited with Junior Troop 962, who were spending the weekend at camp. Each Brownie "paired off" with a Sister Junior Scout and attended the campfire for snack and songs.

Asking Kennedy's Birthday As Holiday

HARRISBURG (AP)—Efforts are underway in the Senate to make the May 29th birthday of the late President John F. Kennedy a state and national holiday.

"The observance of 'Kennedy's Birthday' would fill the hearts of the citizens of this great nation with dignity and pride," a Senate resolution said.

Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22.

The resolution, sponsored by Minority Leader Charles R. Weiner, D-Philadelphia; William J. Lane, D-Washington; and Anthony J. DiSilvestro, D-Philadelphia, was referred to the Committee on Rules.

Must Have Man At Helm, Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Declaring that "there should always be someone at the helm," former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the vice president should have authority to take over the duties of a physically or mentally disabled president.

And in the event the presidency is vacant the president should be empowered to appoint his second in command, Eisenhower said.

The former president told a national conference on presidential succession Monday of three occasions during his terms as president when he said he was physically unable to carry out his duties—during his 1955 heart attack, an ileitis attack in 1956 and a mild stroke in 1957.

But he said a disability need not be physical to create problems.

"Let's suppose," he said, "the president is a little bit wacky."

With the vice president acting as president, there would be time to get "expert medical and psychological advice" to determine whether the president was able to carry out his duties, Eisenhower added.

Congress should have the final decision, he said, in the event of a quarrel between the president and top government leaders on presidential disability.

"RAIL CRUISE" COMING HERE ON JUNE 28

One hundred thirty-two tourists traveling on a specially chartered train are scheduled to be in Gettysburg June 28 as part of an "Americana Rail Cruise," the Four Winds Travel Agency of New York has notified the local Chamber of Commerce.

According to Miss Audrey Symons, of the travel agency, in a letter to Mrs. Helen Snyder, secretary of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce the visitors will be one of five similar groups scheduled to visit Gettysburg as part of a tour of the United States and Mexico during the summer.

The group scheduled to arrive here June 28 will leave New York June 6 for Washington. From there the special railroad cars will continue to Atlanta, New Orleans, Laredo, Mexico City, El Paso, Phoenix, Los Angeles, San Francisco, the Grand Canyon, Denver, Chicago and Gettysburg. The tourists will be here from 8 in the morning to 1 in the afternoon, then return to New York to end their 23 day tour.

FOUR OTHER TOURS

According to present plans, four other railroad tours are scheduled over the same 10,000 mile route during the summer, with the tours arriving here July 26, August 23, September 20 and October 18.

In its brochure of the trip the New York agency noted that "You'll travel through the carefully cared for Pennsylvania countryside on your way from Harrisburg to Gettysburg, solemn reminder of Lincoln's magnificent address, and site of one of the most famous battles in American history. The entire story of the three-day battle will be depicted for you by means of an electric map. Afterwards, you'll tour the battlefield itself."

In her letter to Mrs. Snyder, Miss Symons said the tourists "come from 48 cities and towns of 10 states, the provinces of Quebec and Ontario in Canada and places as far away as England, Venezuela and Paris. There are small family groups, couples and single people aboard, all out to really see America in this unique fashion."

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Salary Increased: Dr. T. J. Barkley conducted his last Holy Communion service at St. Mark's Church on the Littlestown pike on Sunday. Dr. Barkley has been relieved of the task of supplying this church and Rev. Irvin Ditzler of Spring Grove will conduct services there every two weeks. The consistency of the Gettysburg Reformed Church to which Dr. Barkley will now be able to devote his entire time, has decided to increase his salary from $800 to $1,000 a year.

The new wagon for parcel post delivery made its first appearance on the streets of town this morning.

Spangler Store Property Sold: The Spangler properties at the corner of Baltimore street and Centre Square were sold this afternoon to Simon Wiener, a real estate man from Waynesboro, for $16,900. The two buildings were first offered separately and brought a total of $12,800, after which they were put up as a whole and sold in that way. The property consists of two separate buildings. The one on the corner of Baltimore Street and Centre Square is more than a century old and has held a number of business places. George W. Spangler, the present tenant of the first floor, has conducted a dry goods store there for forty-three years and is now preparing to retire. Before Mr. Spangler took the store his brother, Michael, conducted a general store at the same place for a number of years. It was in 1871 when Mr. George Spangler took charge of this store, that his brother erected the three-story building on the corner of Baltimore street and the alley. This forms the other portion of the property. Before Michael Spangler opened his store in the corner building it was used by a Mr. Kalbfleisch as a grocery and liquor store and before that a Mr. Arnold had a general store in that place. Mrs. Shultz, mother of Miss Maria Shultz, formerly resided in this corner building, having as a parlor the room until recently occupied by the five and ten cent store, and occupying the remainder of the house not used for merchandising purposes. Mrs. H. B. Nixon bought the Carlisle Street property for $1,500.

First Memorial Of Anniversary: The first memorial of the great Peace Jubilee at Gettysburg last year, and up to this time the only such memorial, was dedicated this afternoon with fitting ceremonies when a beautiful colonial portico at the old Seminary building was formally opened. The principal address was made by Dr. Henry E. Jacobs, Philadelphia, an eye witness of the battle. Dr. J. A. Singmaster, chairman of the Seminary faculty, gave a brief historical sketch and Horace McFarland, Harrisburg, representing Governor Tener brought the greetings of the State. Elsie Singmaster Lewars read "The Man Who Shot Given" a story of the anniversary and the dedicatory prayer was made by Dr. E. D. Weigle, Camp Hill.

Property Resold: John Kimble on Wednesday bought from Simon Wiener, Waynesboro, the Spangler property, corner Baltimore and Centre Square, which Mr. Wiener had bought at public sale the day previous. Mr. Kimble then sold the corner property to Mr. Kadel, who conducts the Gettysburg Candy Kitchen. The terms in each instance are private. Mr. Kadel contemplates

Today's Talk

TALKING ON PAPER

Nothing is more welcome than a good letter — especially one from someone you may know and love, or from someone whom you do not know, or may never know, and yet from whose heart words have come to you by way of encouragement.

The mail man may be said to be God's messenger. But there are those who are only too ready to talk, but who say that they "hate" to write letters. Well, writing a letter is no more than talking on paper. The composition, even, isn't the important thing. What is important is the spirit behind the letter.

In my library are dozens of books containing the letters of famous folks. They are more revealing than the best things that they have written as authors, or have done as public figures. In a letter the writer is most himself. He, or she, is not writing for other eyes than the one who receives such a letter. At least that is the assumption.

The soldier boy has always said that letters are more to be desired than any other things sent from home. There are times when a letter means more to a boy in a foreign land than food. Nothing has the equal of a letter as a morale builder.

It is well to bear in mind, however, that spoken words are often forgotten, but written ones may exist for years. I find it difficult to destroy a letter that has come from someone by way of encouragement. I like to keep it around. I almost always have several in my pocket. They keep my heart warm!

I have a long original letter that Eugene Field wrote to his son, and it is so fatherly, intimate that you almost feel the presence of the poet as it is read. Another one is from Stephen Crane to his brother, in which he opens up his heart wide and lets the words flow. Both are inspired talks put to paper.

Never kill the impulse to write a letter that you think may add happiness, or give encouragement, to the recipient. And write it as though it were a talk from you to that one.

A BANK OF LILACS

I have a bank of lilacs near my door,
A bank that never fails when I am away;
Its lovely dividends grow more and more,
And more and more my gratitude it earns.

The humblest twig is freighted now with bloom,
Of purple petals, beautiful to see,
Exquisite tapestry from nature's loom,
Which every year the lilacs promise me.

Poor troubled men, perplexed and fretted much,
Build governments their peace to guarantee;
They spill the things their blundering fingers touch,
Striving for goals they can but dimly see.

Beyond their power great promises they make,
And sorrow follows every failing plan,
But lilacs never falter here or break—
They always keep their promises to man.

Beside my door a bank of lilacs now
In noodie point of purple stands arrayed,
Though cold the spring has seemed to us, somehow
The promised dividends are being paid.

The air is sweet with fragrance once again,
Now to the bloom comes back the hungry bee—
A glow of beauty lights my window pane—
My lilac bank has kept its pledge to me.

Eckert for the three-year term, and Miss Annie Wallace Horner, Charles W. Stock and T. J. Winebrenner for the one-year term. The other twelve members were elected by the Parent-Teacher Association several weeks ago.

NEW ILLUSION

Featured on the 1964 edition is an easy-to-read legend, the 1,575 miles of interstate highways and the proposed locations, public recreation areas, state game and fish areas, historical properties and state parks.

The map has a black cover with red and yellow lettering. The cover photographs are outlined in white and present a three dimensional illusion.

The back cover includes a "welcome to Pennsylvania" message from Governor William W. Scranton. On the inside cover is a diagram outlining graphically the safe way to pass on highways striped with safety lines.

The map will be distributed through automobile clubs, tourist agencies, hotels and motels, and the state Commerce Department. More than 750,000 copies have been produced.

Harris said it marked the first time in recent years that the map was distributed to the public prior to June. He said it was necessary to meet such a deadline so maps could be in the hands of travelers making plans for summer vacations.

Harris said a joint program with the state Commerce Department has been developed for the distribution of maps. He said the tourist development bureau of the Commerce Department will make available maps and other tourist material.

The highway secretary said his department also will distribute maps from the central office in Harrisburg and through the 11 district offices and 66 county facilities.

DROP HOSPITAL TO CASTRO FOES

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A Cuban exile organization described today in a copy-right story in the Pompano Beach Sun-Sentinel how it dropped supplies, including a complete field hospital unit, to anti-Castro guerrillas in Cuba.

Manuel Fernandez, a member of the 30th of November Movement of the International Anti-Communist Brigade, said the supply drop took place Monday morning.

Fernandez told Jack Hord, the Sun-Sentinel city editor, the plane took off from south Florida, penetrated the Cuban defense radar, dropped the supplies and then headed for Santiago de Cuba.

There, according to the exile, they dropped 150,000 leaflets telling the people of the city that liberation was on its way.

GIVE "EMMY" AWARDS ON NBC MONDAY NIGHT

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The television industry honored its own Monday night by passing out statuettes which one winner—Chet Huntley—described as "a somewhat maligned and slandered young woman."

As television ndaward shows the NBC program was long on irony and envelope-opening and short on entertainment. CBS, which officially turned its back on the ceremonies, scooped up the lion's share of the awards—13 in all, with five going to the "Dick Van Dyke Show," four to "The Danny Kaye Show" and three to "The Defenders."

CBS News, whose president kicked off the furor over the awards, failed to win any in the news and documentary categories. But "The Making of the President, 1960," which was broadcast on ABC, which also joined the walkout, picked up four awards, including "Program of the Year." The program was made by an independent packager, David Wolper.

NBC SECOND

NBC was second with nine awards and ABC had five. Even if the voting methods of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences can be criticized, it would be hard to quarrel with the final results.

CBS, in a bit of enterprising broadcasting, will have Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, Sen. Edward Kennedy, Britain's former Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt and Irish Prime Minister Sean Lemass on a live transatlantic discussion of the late president's spiritual legacy. The half-hour program, using Telstar, will be televised here and abroad on Kennedy's 47th birthday anniversary Friday.

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard said he plans to attend a European Common Market meeting shortly and hopes the trade bloc's other five government chiefs will join him.

Erhard, who is to visit President Johnson in Washington next week, urged the summit meeting Monday night to give the organization a political underpinning.

Cabinet ministers from the member countries — the others are France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — meet June 1 in Brussels, but it was not certain Erhard had this date in mind.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of Buddhists in Saigon and Hue joined in massive but orderly religious rallies today to commemorate Buddha's birthday and the fiery Buddhist suicides that helped topple President Ngo Dinh Diem last year.

U.S. military authorities imposed an 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew for American servicemen in Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon. A bloody riot there during the birthday celebration last year set off the Buddhist crisis for the Diem government.

PENNSYLVANIA PUBLISHES NEW HIGHWAY MAP

The first major change in 30 years has been completed on the state Highway Department's new tourist map made available to the public today.

The 1964 eight-color production is in line with the "Discover the New Pennsylvania" theme and features four color photographs on its cover.

According to state Highway Secretary Henry D. Harrel, the map was designed and produced by the department's cartographers, under the supervision of Richard D. Howell, of Harrisburg, and Thomas M. Perry, of New Cumberland. Harrel said the map took more than two years to produce and was prepared by department personnel at a considerable saving.

NEW ILLUSION

Featured on the 1964 edition is an easy-to-read legend, the 1,575 miles of interstate highways and the proposed locations, public recreation areas, state game and fish areas, historical properties and state parks.

The map has a black cover with red and yellow lettering. The cover photographs are outlined in white and present a three dimensional illusion.

The back cover includes a "welcome to Pennsylvania" message from Governor William W. Scranton. On the inside cover is a diagram outlining graphically the safe way to pass on highways striped with safety lines.

The map will be distributed through automobile clubs, tourist agencies, hotels and motels, and the state Commerce Department. More than 750,000 copies have been produced.

Harris said it marked the first time in recent years that the map was distributed to the public prior to June. He said it was necessary to meet such a deadline so maps could be in the hands of travelers making plans for summer vacations.

Harris said a joint program with the state Commerce Department has been developed for the distribution of maps. He said the tourist development bureau of the Commerce Department will make available maps and other tourist material.

The highway secretary said his department also will distribute maps from the central office in Harrisburg and through the 11 district offices and 66 county facilities.

DROP HOSPITAL TO CASTRO FOES

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A Cuban exile organization described today in a copy-right story in the Pompano Beach Sun-Sentinel how it dropped supplies, including a complete field hospital unit, to anti-Castro guerrillas in Cuba.

Manuel Fernandez, a member of the 30th of November Movement of the International Anti-Communist Brigade, said the supply drop took place Monday morning.

Fernandez told Jack Hord, the Sun-Sentinel city editor, the plane took off from south Florida, penetrated the Cuban defense radar, dropped the supplies and then headed for Santiago de Cuba.

There, according to the exile, they dropped 150,000 leaflets telling the people of the city that liberation was on its way.

CHISOX WIN ON PINCH HOMER, ORIOLES LOSE
TO TIGERS 5-3

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Landis, the hitting man's Jim Brosnan, has closed the book on his squabble with the Chicago White Sox and started to author an impressive batting average.

Landis, only four days removed from the White Sox doghouse, led off the seventh inning Monday night with his first homer of the season, a pinch-hit job that triggered Chicago's American League leaders to a four-run rally and a 7-4 victory over Kansas City.

It was the fourth hit in seven at-bats for Landis since a peace parley with Manager Al Lopez settled a dispute that threatened to wind up in a cause celebre almost as big as the one that cost pitcher-author Brosnan his job with the club.

ON WRONG FOOT

Landis got off on the wrong foot this season when he had an argument with General Manager Ed Short over fees for television appearances. Landis wound up asking to be traded. Lopez countered by keeping the 30-year-old outfielder on the bench.

Up until last Thursday, Landis had been to the plate only five times. Then Lopez and Landis, who hit .272 when the White Sox won the pennant in 1959 but only
.228 and .225 the last two years, got together to work out the problem.

"I felt a little odd about being out for so long," said Landis after lifting his average to .417 with the homer. "But I wasn't worried about getting out of shape, because I'm thin anyway and I was taking batting practice every day."

TWINS BEAT LA

While Landis boosted his average, Minnesota rookie Tony Oliva raised the league's leading average to .391 with a 3-for-4 performance and Jimmie Hall stroked four hits in a 16-hit attack that carried the Twins to an 8-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels.

Elsewhere, Bill Freehan drove in two runs with a homer and double as Detroit whipped Baltimore 5-3 and Boston turned two errors into three unearned runs and a 6-5 victory over Washington.

Cleveland and the New York Yankees were not scheduled while the entire National League was idle.

BATTED FOR PETERS

Landis, batting for starter
Gary Peters, tied the score 3-3 and the White Sox took it from there. Al Weis then singled, moved around to third on a balk and an infield out and scored the tie-breaker on Pete Ward's single before Ron Hansen wrapped up the outburst with a two-run homer.

Ward and J. C. Martin also homered for Chicago while Peters brought his record to 6-2 with a four-hit, 10-strikeout performance. Oliva supplied the game's only homer, a two-run shot in the first inning that was actually Al Pascual needed.

TIGERS CHASE BARBER

Freehan doubled home a run in the first inning and scored on a single by Don Demeter, th homered in the fourth as the Tigers chased Steve Barber, Barber, a 20-game winner for the Orioles last year, failed in his fifth attempt to post victory No.
1. Ed Rakow was the winner, limiting Baltimore to two hits over the final 5-13 innings.

The Red Sox broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth when Bob Tillman drove in the lead run with a double following a single by Carl Yastrzemski and an error by Don Zimmer that let Roman Mejias reach base. A walk, and Don Blasingame's error and a single by Ed Bressoud scored the other two runs. John Kennedy homered for the Senators.

150 PROS TO
INDIANAPOLIS

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The track may be just as fast for the $70,000 "500" Festival Open Golf Tournament starting Wednesday as for the Memorial Day auto race which interrupts it Saturday.

Booming shooters like Jack Nicklaus and George Bayer may have to ride the sun-baked, par 71 Indianapolis Motor Speedway golf course with governors on their drivers.

Nicklaus, top PGA money-winner, and three former Speedway champions head a cast of 150 pros seeking one of the year's more substantial tour purse, $12,000.

Masters champion Arnold Palmer again has elected to skip this unique meet—certainly the first ever to delay its final round a day while 250,000 speed-minded patrons watch a 3-1-3-hour roadster chase.

They have nice hard retaining walls to keep the snarling metal monsters from going out of bounds in Saturday's big race.

The 6,467-yard golf course which meanders partly into the vast oval of the Speedway's 2 1/2-mile infield is another matter.

The tourney directors, at the suggestion of the pros, narrowed the fairways to 30 yards and let the rough grow to three inches.
But, with the turf as dry and as hard as it is, it probably will make little difference where the shots land for the more able gunners, among them 21 of the top 25 PGA cash collectors.

Some may drive the greens on several par 4 holes.

The 72-hole record is a 20-under-par 264 by Billy Casper, winner two years ago on rounds of 66-67-67-64.

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Argentina was declared the winner and the pre-Olympic soccer tournament was suspended Monday following the riots that left hun-

The tourney was held to Argentina was unbeaten in five games and had 10 points.

Second place and the second team to go to Tokyo will be deand Brazil June 7.

Peru and Brazil each had five

IKE PLAYS IN CHARITY GOLF MATCH TODAY

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
ARDMORE, Pa. (AP)—Back
before the turn of the century,
President William McKinley,
holidaying in Hot Springs, Va., created a national crisis by suggesting that he would like to play a round of golf.

"Horrors," was the shocked reaction of his advisers. "It's too undignified. It could tear down confidence in the administration."

Some 65 years later — today over the renowned Merion Golf Club—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the most avid of America's golfing presidents, takes to the tee in a charity exhibition match with Masters Champion Arnold Palmer, veteran pro Jimmy Demaret and dancer Ray Bolger.

NOBODY SHOCKED

Nobody is shocked. People paying $50 and $100 for admission to the 18-hole benefit for the Heart Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania are just curious.

Does Ike slice or hook, like the weekend duffer? Does he blow his stack when he flubs a three-foot putt? Does he mutter an ex-pletive when he leaves a ball in the sand?

These were questions never answered during the eight years Eisenhower was president of the United States—1952 through 1960.

The White House press was not allowed to watch him play. His score was classified information like the atom bomb or the moon shot. People only discussed it in muffled whispers.

Now everybody will know. The former chief executive, a hale 73 despite a heart attack and two other illnesses during his years in the White House, teams with Palmer against Demaret and Bolger.

The match starts at 1 p.m.
(EST).

Eisenhower was certainly the most-dedicated if not the best golfer ever to occupy the White House. To relax from pressures of his office, he took frequent golfing breaks at Augusta, Ga., site of the Masters tournament.

He played every chance he got. Golfing cronies said he was a fierce competitor who shut himself off from the rest of the world when he teed off. He shot as low as 79 and as high as 95.

His big weakness, friends said, was impatience. He played too fast, putted without studying his assignment. But he loved it all.

CABINET STIRRED

It wasn't always easy for chief executives to indulge in the fairway sport without drawing criticism.

When McKinley wanted to play in 1897, shock reverberated through the halls of Congress.
The Cabinet debated the propriety of the action. The Boston Evening Record published a copyrighted story that nothing was wrong with a president playing golf as long as he was shielded from "curious onlookers."

The bulbous, 300-pound William Howard Taft didn't care.
He played regularly, even though it was hard for him to get the club around his expansive midsection. He often took 12 on a single hole in good humor.

CHRIS SHORT TO FACE LAW

PITTSBURGH (AP)—It's to be Chris Short (2-1) against the Pirates Vernon Law (1-4) tonight as the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies, one-half game ahead of the pace, take on Pittsburgh.

Both teams were idle Monday.
The Phillies, however, on the West Coast after playing the Los Angeles Dodgers, worked out in a five-inning game with their Northwest League farm club at Eugene, Ore.

The game, a 5-5 tie, was ended
by a time limit agreement.

Veteran Cal McLish, on the disabled list since the season opened, tested his sore right shoulder by pitching for the Phillies.

McLish later said his arm felt all right. He may be returned to the active list in the near future.
Although the Phillies will have to cut one player to make room for him.

The American Legion came from behind with single runs in the fifth and sixth innings to tie the Kiwanis Club 3-2 in the opening game of the season Monday evening before a good sized crowd.

Both teams played exceptionally fine ball all the way with Herring, winning pitcher, and Heiser, the loser, hooking up in a pitchers' duel.

The two hurlers led their teams in hitting. Herring collected three hits in as many times at bat while Heiser smacked a homer and a single.

Preceding the game Henry T.
Bream, athletic director at Gettysburg College, spoke briefly to squad members who lined the base paths and officially opened the 1964 campaign by tossing out the first ball.

Khrushchev Swaps Huge Loan For Nasser's Support Abroad

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

CAIRO (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev ended a 17-day visit to Egypt Monday after warming up the farewell with a promise of a $277 million loan for President Gamal Abdel Nasser's second five-year plan.

In return, Nasser gave Khrushchev a wholehearted endorsement of Soviet foreign policy, including the Kremlin's views on peaceful coexistence.

A joint communique by the two leaders placed the Egyptians squarely behind the Soviets in the struggle between Peking and Moscow for influence in Africa's new nations.

WORKERS' HOLIDAY

Cheering workers, given a half holiday, jammed the airport for Khrushchev's departure, and upwards of 2,000 troops and security men were on hand. Nasser gave his guest a warm embrace. A 21-gun salute boomed out as the Soviet leader waved before entering his airliner.

Khrushchev's departure was delayed an hour and a half, but the reason was not announced.

The joint communique was made public after a final banquet Sunday night in the gardens of former King Farouk's luxurious Kubbah Palace.

Khrushchev said the Soviet Union had decided to help the United Arab Republic with its second economic plan, which begins next year.

He said the assistance would include a steel plant with an annual capacity of one million tons and a 10,000-acre model farm where Soviet techniques would be used to reclaim the desert. He left it to Nasser to tell the cheering crowd the amount of the aid.

Terms of the loan were not disclosed, but it was presumed that they called for repayment over 12 years at 2.5 per cent interest. The previous $500 million in Soviet credits to Egypt was on this basis.

U.S. ASSISTANCE

The United States has supplied Egypt with $750 million in assistance in the last 10 years.

The U.S. State Department warned last fall that further U.S. assistance was imperiled by Nasser's intervention in Yemen's civil war and the Senate tacked a rider onto the foreign aid bill barring aid to countries "engaged in or preparing for aggressive military effort."

In the Khrushchev - Nasser communique, Nasser defended the "legitimate right of the Cuban people to defend their sovereignty" after Khrushchev warned that U.S. reconnaissance flights over the island could have "most fatal consequences for those who undertake such gambles."

Both leaders denounced "attempts to torpedo the Geneva agreements of 1962 with regard to Laos," but they did not say whether they thought the United States or Communist China was responsible for the crisis in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

Nasser endorsed the Soviet Union's bid to attend the coming meeting of Asian - African states as an Asian power. Red China says the Soviet Union is predominantly a European power and should be barred.

Control. The guilty agent was nitrogen dioxide gas released during blasting operations by a construction company working in the downtown area. Because of the damp, heavy air on that day, the gas hovered near the surface instead of being dissipated. When a sufficient pocket of it touched a stocking, it dissolved some of the chemical elements and "laddered" the stocking.

RED CHINESE CALL U. S. PLAN AIM TO EXPAND

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China Monday called U. S. proposals for guarding the South Viet Nam-Cambodia border with United Nations patrols a plot to expand American aggression in Indochina.

"U.S. aggressors must get out of South Viet Nam; they must get out of Indochina," a Peking radio broadcast quoted a Peking People's Daily editorial as saying.

Replying to U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson's declaration May 21 before the U.N. Security Council, the Chinese said: "China absolutely cannot allow the United Nations to be drawn into the situation in Indochina."

RELEASED IN EDITORIAL

The Red Chinese rejection was spelled out in an editorial by "Commentator," an otherwise unidentified but high-ranking official.

Stevenson proposed that the Security Council request Cambodia and South Viet Nam to establish a military force to patrol the frontier which South Vietnamese troops have crossed in recent weeks in pursuit of Communist Viet Cong units. He said this bilateral force should be augmented by and possibly commanded by U.N. observers. Alternatively, he suggested formation of an all-U.N. force to which the United States

Special Treatment For Apartments

CHICAGO (AP)—The purchase of a condominium apartment qualifies the owner for special income tax treatment, according to Commerce Clearing House, specialists in tax law.

A condominium is an apartment building in which each dweller owns his own apartment space and proportionate share of the underlying realty on which the building stands.

If the purchaser itemizes his deductions on his tax return, he may deduct the interest and real estate taxes which he pays on the new apartment.

If he sells his residence and within the required year buys into a condominium, any gain on the first residence will be taxable only to the extent that the sales price of the old residence is more than the cost of the new one.

Under special laws recently enacted, condominium owners in 32 states and the District of Columbia can be assessed for property taxes.

U.S. advisers contend the Communist Viet Cong openly use Cambodia as sanctuary before and after raids on South Viet Nam.

The editorial broadcast by Peking radio said: "These proposals by Stevenson are becoming increasingly blatant. They are designed to draw the United Nations, which is under U.S. control, into territories close to South Viet Nam and Cambodia and thus to draw the U.N. into the contaminated South Vietnamese war."

COURT ORDERS SCHOOLS OPEN IN VIRGINIA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ordered Prince Edward County, Va., Monday to reopen its public schools on a desegregated basis by next September.

County education officials closed the schools in 1959 to avoid court-ordered admission of Negroes.

The Prince Edward racial controversy has been fought in state and federal courts since May, 1951. It was one of the original school desegregation cases decided by the Supreme Court on May 17, 1954.

Justice Hugo L. Black delivered the court's main opinion today.

JUSTICES DISAGREED

Justices Tom C. Clark and John M. Harlan noted they agreed with the reasoning in Black's opinion, but disagreed with the holding that federal courts are empowered to order re-opening of the county schools.

Black said the case would go back to U.S. District Court in Virginia "with directions to enter a decree which will guarantee that these petitioners (Negro students) will get the kind of education that is given in the state's public schools."

Black added that, "If it becomes necessary to add new parties" to the lengthy litigation to accomplish the purpose ordered today, the federal court

Saboteurs Mine Vietnamese Train

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Viet Cong saboteurs mined the Saigon-Hue train early Sunday, killing eight civilian passengers, the Vietnamese Defense Ministry announced Monday. Eight other passengers were wounded.

In Phu Yen Province, Communist guerrillas attacked a Civil Guard unit, killing nine, wounding eight and capturing 28 weapons, the Defense Ministry said. A government pursuit force recovered some weapons.

BOWLING GREEN, O. (AP)—The start of telecasting operations from a classroom building here has given Ohio the lead in number of educational television stations.

Bowling Green State University's WBGU-TV, which went on the air Feb. 10, is the seventh in the Buckeye State, all ultra-high frequency. Florida is second with six.

in Virginia "is free to do so."

The U.S. District Court in Virginia, Black said, has power to order the public schools opened if such an order is "required to assure these petitioners (Negro students) that their constitutional rights will no longer be denied them."

"The time for mere 'deliberate speed' has run out, and that phrase can no longer justify denying these Prince Edward County school children their constitutional rights to an education equal to that afforded by the public schools in other parts of Virginia," Black stated.

INTERFAITH RALLY IS HELD

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An interfaith rally, attended by an estimated 400 persons, was held in Independence Square Sunday in support of the civil rights bill pending in Congress.

The rally was sponsored by the newly-formed Religious Advisory Consultation on Equality (RACE), which has 26 member organizations affiliated with Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic faiths.

Robert M. Thomas, president of the Catholic Community Relations Council, told the predominantly white audience that the rally served notice that "we have become impatient with the protracted debate that is serving only to stall temporarily the inevitable."

"For too long," Thomas said, "our democracy has been a house with many rooms where the lights are never turned on. Today, by demanding immediate passage of civil rights legislation, we are asking that the light of freedom be allowed to glow in every room of our house—America."

South African Says Abolish The Polish

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The "pursuit of fashion" and men's deodorants are blamed for western decadence by a contributor to an Afrikaner Church magazine here.

The writer says the increasing interest in fashion taken by men and the production of men's toilet perfumes are signs of the decline of western standards. "Men are getting effeminate," complains the anonymous writer. "They spend hours in front of a mirror brushing up their man-ners. There is even a club in South Africa—run by a woman—which teaches men social etiquette and finesse."

The writer, an advocate of Afrikaner thought which prefers brawn and pure masculinity to brain and culture, disparages masculine ambition which aims only at knowing what kind of shoes to wear, what shade of shoes to wear with certain suits, whether shoes should be long pointed or short pointed.

BOW PROPERLY

He asks: "Is knowledge of how to bow properly and have good taste preparation for times of danger which could lie ahead for South Africans?"

The contributor continues: "We want to laugh at the dandies but we also want to cry. It is not a joke. The sun is going down on western civilization partly because there are no more manly men—just men."

He adds that some men would be better serving in the army, the police or the militia and studying the politics of Africa than taking courses in finesse.

"Effeminate fashions merely cover the poverty within the wearers," says the article. "Are such people able to take up guns for their nation's survival or are their manners only to help the women in the safety of the salon?"

ASSORTED GROUP

An assorted group—from a dress designer to a professor of ethnology—look up the defense of fashion and culture.

Designer Ivor Kirsten of Johannesburg pointed out that Frenchmen were renowned for their elegance and manners but they could never be called towards—as the history of war had shown.

"It's wrong to pay too much attention to clothes," said Kirsten, "but it's also wrong to pay undue attention to defense. In any case South Africans are known for their bad manners and if someone tries to teach them the finer things in life the attempt should be lauded, not criticized."

DANDYISH CLOTHES

Professor Abel Coetzee chipped in with the fact that early South African settlers wore fancy, almost dandyish, clothes and kissed women's hands but that this didn't prevent them from taming the land. Coetzee, however, drew the line at sweet-smelling men—"That's too feminine," he protested.

Women, as usual, had the last word. Typical comments: "Of course men should use perfumes. Why should South African men have to smell as if they just cleaned a cattle ring?" "Why must they always be the ugly ducklings of the fashion world?" "A well-tailored, elegant man who knows which are the right wines is always the best companion."

BOSSES FROWN ON PALE LIPS

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK — The no-lipstick look is not going over big with bosses, if a couple of annoyed employers are an indication of the general mood.

So—if you are job-seeking, it's a thought to keep in mind.

Reminded that this attitude is a switch from earlier attitudes about lipstick, one employer says he's still not in favor of a paint job for the face—not worn at work, anyway. But he'll take a little lipstick over the no-lipstick idea. What he'd rather have is no lipstick at all, he says.

What's the difference? "Without lipstick a girl looks perfectly natural, but with the no-lipstick look, she looks as if she's gotten out of a sick bed. You don't feel like asking her to do anything for you and as a matter of fact it is nauseating to be around her," he says.

NO LIPSTICK LOOK

His remarks aren't double talk. The no-lipstick look is contrived by making up the mouth with the same foundation as that used on the face, until you are all one color. Then oil or a white lipstick is applied to get that "look boss, no lipstick look."

Blondes look sicker than brunettes sans lipstick, one man points out, because they need a little color to liven up their faces.

"When we have a job open, I don't say anything to the agency about makeup. If I do, the agency tells the girl, she conforms to the image while I'm hiring her and then reverts to her old ways when she gets the job. They always have a weird idea you are old-fashioned, but that you would like the new nonsense if you used to it. Huh," he says.

INTERVIEWS LIKELY ONES

He observes all the girls in the reception room, interviews the mostly likely types, hires one from that group, and sends the others away, he says.

"I can recognize neatness and efficiency right away by the way the girl is put together. I like a girl to look trim and business-like, not as if she were applying for a job to distract the male help."

Teased hair so disturbed another employer that he couldn't dictate letters, he said. "It was a grotesque hair style."

Summing it up, these employers do not like anything that is an attraction in makeup or dress such as over-powering perfume, extra-long fingernails, teased hair, white lips, spectacular clothes.

FALSE EYELASHES OK

"I don't even care if a girl wears false eyelashes," says one boss magnanimously, "as long as those eyelashes don't look as if they're coated with soot."

And they have no objections to high heel shoes, even spikes, "if the girl knows how to walk."

The formula goes like this: Hair—clean, shining and short or worn in a neat bun.

Makeup—just enough to liven up your face.

Dress—conservative but with style.

Embellishments—light on jewelry and perfume.

But her secretary, Hisao Takasawa, said she was not born with a silver spoon in her mouth.

"She has built up her own fortune," he added.

The attractive Japanese woman, owner of a plush hotel in Atami, a popular hot spring resort in central Japan, soon will become president of a 12-million-dollar 300-room, 13 story hotel completed April 30.

Takasawa said Miss Shiotani, the daughter of a Japanese inn owner, became interested in the hotel business early in life.

After graduating from a women's college in Tokyo, she took a hotel business course at a YMCA.

An important factor in her career, Takasawa said, was a two-year stint in the Philippines during World War II when she was in charge of the Bay View hotel in Manila.

She returned to Japan in 1945, and in 1951 built the present Atami hotel — a 130-room structure popular with holiday visitors. The hotel cost the equivalent of $35,000 at that time.

"She really had a tough time getting the money, and, after the completion of the hotel, she really took pains in returning debts," Takasawa said.

"Business was rough until the Korean war. But after that business went up smoothly and eventually we got the present reputation," he added.

Last year Miss Shiotani was tagged "the hotel queen" by

BIRDS HAVE COME BACK TO LONDON

By JOHN GALE

LONDON (AP) — The liquid notes of the dawn chorus are filling the London air once more. It is an almost forgotten music which is giving the Londoner a new spring night's rest and turning the open spaces of the capital into chattering aviaries.

Birds have not been in such abundance since smoke and smog drove them from the crowded city to suburban gardens and wooded hillsides. They are returning in increasing numbers with strict enforcement of antipollution legislation which now constitutes almost the whole of greater London as a clean-air zone.

The evacuation had made London almost barren of bird-song. Only a few hardy stragglers hung on — the grimy, perky sparrows and the pigeons begging for crumbs in Trafalgar Square, the starlings clustering along the rooftops of Whitehall, and the exotic Mandarin ducks and red-crested pochards imported to St. James's Park. Other visitors were rare.

PICTURE CHANGED
But a report on bird life in the royal parks just published by a government committee says the whole picture has changed. There are 800 acres of royal parks in the center of the capital and the cuckoo — once lost to London — has been sighted in all of them.

Also sighted have been kittiwake gulls and puffins up from coastal regions, the spotted flycatcher, the garden warbler, waxwings and crossbills.

Even the great spotted woodpecker has alighted on the royal acres where the committee

GUARDSMAN IS SHOT IN NEW RIGHTS FUSS

By HERB THOMPSON

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — One National Guardsman was shot and three others were injured Monday night in a new flareup between integrationist demonstrators and troops using bayonets and tear gas to disperse them.

State police said several demonstrators also were injured in the clash as bullets, bricks and bottles whizzed through the air in the city's Negro district.

Hundreds of whites milled along the edge of the district, heckling guardsmen and shouting taunts at integrationists across the street.

CHARGES CURFEW

Further disorder was averted when Brig. Gen. George M. Gelston clamped a curfew on the town and guardsmen moved shoulder to shoulder down the main street to clear it of spectators. Ironically named Race Street, it divides the Negro section of about 4,000 from the 8,000 white population.

None of Monday night's injuries was described as serious, but the clash was the third outbreak in two weeks and the most serious in nearly a year. The guard was ordered into Cambridge by Gov. J. Millard Tawes last summer after a series of shootings and arsons. It has been there since.

In the latest eruption, a Negro guardsman was wounded in the left shoulder by a small-caliber bullet. Another, also Negro, said 134 different species of birds have been identified in the last couple of years.

Medical Miracle Wins Horse Race

HALEAH, Fla. (AP) — Ironshire, a three-year-old home bred filly owned by Logan Grier of Milford, Del., is being regarded as a miracle horse.

When she won the Mimosa Stakes here last winter it was revealed that her chances of ever getting to the races were exceedingly slim. When foaled she had a corpuscle deficiency and was in a coma. A groom kept her alive by forcing hot coffee down her throat.

Trained by Charlie Robbins, Ironshire picked up $24,732 when she won the Mimosa at one mile and an eighth.

suffered a burned hand when a grenade he was holding exploded.

FACE IS CUT

A plastic fragment from the grenade hit the gas mask of an officer, cutting his face. A rock hit a fourth serviceman, possibly fracturing an arm.

Gelston said about 150 demonstrators, all but about four or five of them Negro, had begun marching and singing some two hours before the violence.

Guard details were assigned to key intersections to prevent Negroes from leaving the district and whites from entering it.

Several times groups of Negroes tried to march out, were confronted by guardsmen and turned back. As the number of whites along Race Street built up, so did the tension.

Republicans Pick Morton And Hatfield As Speakers

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican National Committee meets today to approve Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky and Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon as the top officers for the party's 1964 convention.

The convention arrangements committee named Morton permanent chairman Monday. He had no opposition.

Overcoming opposition from some backers of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the committee combined the jobs of temporary chairman and keynote speaker and gave them to Hatfield.

SOME OBJECTIONS

Generally Morton is considered a moderate Republican. Hatfield, who usually is associated with the party's liberal wing, had been recommended for permanent chairman by the Republican Governor's Conference.

Neither man has openly supported any of the potential GOP presidential nominees.

Some Goldwater supporters had said they would fight any move to combine the job of temporary chairman — for which Hatfield had been ticketed — and the post of keynote speaker, which was wide open after National Chairman William E. Miller withdrew from consideration.

OPPOSITION EASES

After the committee voted 28 to 20 to combine the jobs and then picked Hatfield over Gov. Tim M. Babcock of Montana by an even wider margin, 28 to 10, spokesmen for Goldwater said they were satisfied.

Miller, announcing the selections, noted that Republicans had only two major convention officers prior to 1952.

With no contests for the nomination in 1956 and 1960, he said, the three-way split of top jobs, adopted in 1952, was retained to give more exposure to Republican leaders.

"Obviously our situation this time is entirely different," Miller said. He said convention planners are faced with the task of trying to squeeze the proceedings from San Francisco into prime television time for the East. He said there could be eight or nine nominations for president, each carrying four seconding speeches, thus lengthening the program.

TWO WITHDRAW

Two others who had been mentioned as keynoter possibilities withdrew from consideration after the committee voted to combine the job with temporary chairman. They are Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., the choice of some Goldwater backers, and Minnesota state Chairman Robert A. Forsythe, who served in the Eisenhower administration as assistant secretary of welfare.

Franco's Wife Is Pious, Indomitable

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MADRID (AP) — Dona Carmen Polo de Franco, 64, Spain's First Lady, exercises a tremendous but seldom seen influence on affairs of state. She exercises still more on her family itself.

"In Spain most people think the letter 'F' stands for Franco," said a close friend of the tall, slim Spanish woman who rules the First Family's household as inflexibly as General Francisco Franco controls the government.

"But for Dona Carmen the 'F' stands for Family, and it is largely her influence which has made the Franco family, including daughter, son-in-law, and six grandchildren, the closely-knit unit it is today."

Now in his 72nd year, and his 26th year as head of the Spanish regime, sturdy General Franco leans heavily on his Asturias-born wife for support both in personal and state matters.

The tall Spanish woman, usually clad in black, shows the same determination today as she did more than 40 years ago when she rejected her father's warning not to marry a soldier "because at the first sound of a shot he will be off, leaving you alone."

DUAL LOVES

Dona Carmen, born in the Asturias capital of Oviedo on July 9, 1900, was the oldest of four children of a wealthy businessman. She was educated by the Salesian nuns and to this day, friends say, it's hard to tell whether she loves more her family or her church, she is so intensely devoted to both.

The late King Alfonso XIII of Spain sent a representative to the marriage of Dona Carmen and the then Lieutenant-Colonel Franco in Oviedo's San Juan Church Oct. 22, 1923. Heeding her father's warning, she went with her new husband the next day when he left for Africa to join his Moroccan Legion unit fighting the Rifis. She has seldom been separated from him since.

STRONG INFLUENCE

Cabinet ministers know it pays to be on friendly terms with Dona Carmen. Her influence with General Franco is strong, especially in matters of personalities, and those who know the couple intimately say the Caudillo of Spain has great faith in his wife's recommendations. But it is in their Pardo Palace home — or their summer homes in northern Spain — where the influence of the Spanish First Lady is felt most. There she makes sure General Franco gets the favorite foods he needs, because he eats and drinks little. And that he does not overdo in his favorite hobbies of shooting and fishing.

Dona Carmen is one of the few people in Spain who habitually address General Franco as "Paco" — a Spanish nickname for Francisco. Servants at the Pardo Palace find her a "most amiable and kind lady."

CHARITABLE LADY

Visitors with appeals for charity always encounter in Dona Carmen a willing listener and usually a willing contributor. Often she herself joins in a worthwhile charity movement, giving lavishly of her time and efforts to promote it.

American women in Madrid know the Spanish First Lady

Irish Derby Lists $180,000 Purse

DUBLIN (AP) — The Irish County Kildare for June 27, will carry at least $180,000 in purse money.

Last year's race was won by American sportsman Harry Derby, set for the Curragh, Ragusa who was bred in Ireland F. Guggenheim. Ragusa was sold for $12,000 at the Dublin Sales in September, 1961 to J. R. Mullion. The colt earned $345,000 in 1963, making him the highest European 3-year-old money winner.

well because of her interest in charity affairs of the American Women's Club and her participation at least once a year in their meetings.

Deeply religious, as is General Franco, the First Lady attends mass every day at the private chapel in El Pardo Palace, sometimes with General Franco, sometimes alone. When they travel, General and Mrs. Franco invariably seek out a church for a religious service on arrival at their destination.

DAILY LUNCHES

"They have much to give sincere thanks for, and they never fail to give them," said an aide.

At home in Pardo Palace Dona Carmen lunches daily with the Caudillo, sometimes sitting down as late as 4 p.m. because of his attention to the affairs of state. Frequently there are motion pictures in the evening in a private studio in the palace. Occasionally Dona Carmen has wives of cabinet ministers or close friends in for tea and on rare occasions for bridge.

But let a charity drive come up and the Spanish First Lady is in the forefront of the campaign.

There is but one thing that takes priority over affairs of state. That is frequent visits with her daughter, the Marquise of Villaverde, and the latter's six children.

HAD ONE CHILD

"Dona Carmen and the General have always regretted they had but one child," says a close friend. "Now God has given them six fine grandchildren and they are making the most of them."

Franco, an avid and skilled hunter, has taught his grandchildren to shoot as he taught his daughter years ago. The eldest grandson has been formally christened Francisco Franco after his grandfather — presumably to carry on the name. Though many people say Dona Carmen looks like a Spanish noblewoman, there is no noble blood in her direct line. But her daughter married a nobleman, the Marquis of Villaverde.

Next: Mrs. De Gaulle.

SCIENCE FINDS KANGAROO RAT SURVIVAL CLUE

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

TUCSON (AP) — University of Arizona scientists have been studying the mystery for years — how do vast numbers of desert animals survive without drinking?

Now they have found an additional clue by milking a tiny kangaroo rat — no small accomplishment in itself.

The milk contains far less water and much more fat than that of most mammals.

Kangaroo rats, also known as dipodomys, are wee gnome-like creatures that infest sections of Arizona, California, New Mexico and Texas.

The late Dr. Charles T. Vorhies of the university was one of the first to report that these desert dwellers, resembling miniature kangaroos, have found a way to live without water. "There is no evidence they ever drink," he reported.

FEW WATER HOLES

Kangaroo rates about in areas where water holes are 40 to 50 miles apart. Dr. Vorhies reported "these little creatures reported 'These home burrows and cannot travel even four or five miles to and from a water hole, to say nothing of a 40 to 50-mile round trip. Such a jaunt might work off more water than the creature could drink.'"

They eat extremely dry foods and abound in areas where summer surface temperatures sometimes reach 155 degrees.

For a while the government was mad at the dipodomys. They build their nests two inches to two feet beneath the ground and connect them with a labyrinth of communicating burrows. During World War II the Air Force built training fields on the desert. The kangaroo rat tunnels caused a bomber to tip over, so predator and rodent control officers were told to kill them. The animals have long since recovered from this setback.

MILK REVEALS SECRET

University of Arizona zoologist Gerald J. Kooyman got the idea that the kangaroo rats' milk might give a hint as to how they have adapted to the arid climate.

But how to go about milking a tiny creature weighing only a few ounces? Finally Kooyman used the same technique a farmer uses on a cow, and produced about one-tenth ounce each milking.

Only seals and whales, it develops, have milk that contains so little water and so much fat.

Kooyman believes the fat content is high because fat, for its weight, generates more energy than carbohydrates or protein. It needs less water for storage, yet yields more water once it metabolizes. In this way the kangaroo rat mother is able to

Each of the university's academic departments — normally in alphabetical rotation — will select a book of the month. Students will be encouraged to read and discuss it, and there will be panel discussions of some books. RUMMAGE SHOP AIDS LIBRARY

CLARKSBURG, Calif. (AP) — Historians report that the citizens of the Roman Empire used a purple thread in their tunics to denote quality and distinction.

The northern California town of Clarksburg on the Sacramento River is far removed in time and geography from that era, but the "Purple Thread" lives on.

It's the name of a shop owned and operated by the 400 people of the community, to raise money for a library.

About three years ago a number of townspeople decided they wanted more reading matter than the bookmobile could offer.

As one resident described the bookmobile: "It's like a quick lunch counter — you just grab something and run."

A rummage shop was decided upon to raise the funds for a permanent library.

No suitable building was available, but Gus Olson offered a vacant farmhouse he owned as a donation. Another library-conscious community member, Mrs. Norman Lawlor, donated the use of a lot next to the town's post office.

Commercial movers wanted a prohibitive $1,000 to transport the house to the lot. This problem was solved when Mrs. Fred Her-

Home-Owners Vie For Unique Title

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Which is the southernmost home in continental United States?

The distinction had long been claimed by Hilario Ramos, Key West businessman.

Then Mrs. Mary de Forest Geary, formerly of Philadelphia, called for a measurement. Her home was given the nod by seven inches.

inger, wife of the president of the California Farm Bureau Federation, talked her husband into taking the job.

He accomplished it, but says it's the last house he'll ever move.

On June 8, 1962, the Purple Thread had its grand opening.

The key to the project was co-operation in donating good quality clothing and other discards. But the town discovered a psychological barrier.

Many residents attached a stigma to used clothing.

Mrs. Heringer made a point of wearing buys from the Purple Thread as part of her aroundtown wardrobe. Others noticed the "nearly new" bargains and fell in line.

The Purple Thread has thus earned approximately $18,000. Cost of the library is estimated at $38,000. Projecting that financial success, spokesmen for the project say they hope to break ground this spring or summer.

MARTIN HAS FOUND FAME AT "GROVE"

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This is the prom season, and to a whole generation of Angelenos that means Freddy Martin and the Coconut Grove.

The figure is as trim, the sax as mellow as when Freddy was fronting his smooth - playing band amid the palms 25 years ago. Egad, it was exactly a quarter - century ago that we seniors of Los Angeles High School celebrated at the Grove with fruit punches, praying at the while that our dates would not order anything foolish like a steak sandwich.

I took a sentimental journey back to the Grove this month to partake of sterner stuff and listen once more to the changeless artistry of Freddy Martin. The old tunes are played with the same kind regard for rhythm and melody, but the Martin men can also knock out a twist or whatever the new generation demands.

LIKE A SHRINE

"We'll give 'em the right beat for the dances they want," says Freddy. "But you know, there's something about the Grove; it's almost like visiting a shrine. The kids respect it, and they don't do so much of the wild dances."

Freddy is himself celebrating a milestone this year—a third of a century as a bandleader. Not bad in an industry that's supposed to have a high mortality rate.

"Started in grill room of the Bossert Hotel in Brooklyn in 1931," he mused. "Had six pieces then. Opening night the place was packed for the first show, and by 10 o'clock the place was empty. I found out the crowd was songpluggers, and they pulled out to catch the debut of another new band, Eddy Duchin."

Freddy persevered, and he worked his way up to the Marine Roof of the hotel, where he appeared on radio as Capt. Freddy Martin and his Musical Marines. He really hit his stride when he started playing at the Grove, then scored on records with his popularized concertos.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER
QUESTIONABLE CALORIES.
Lovely readers of this column have posed the following questions on reducing calories. If you can answer them without peeking, you are the girl who could reduce and stay reduced.

Q. How much weight can be lost on a 900-calorie per day diet? A. Lots, and your vigor too! The safe reducing count is 1,200 to 1,500 calories. Doctors sometimes prescribe lower counts, but they also supervise the "patient" every step of the way.

Q. Is it true that a cut of only 500 calories per day brings satisfactory reductions? A. Yes, if that amount is cut from your normal calorie quota. To find your normal quota multiply your ideal weight by 15. From the total subtract 500 calories and you have your reducing quota. Using this arithmetic, you lose one pound a week.

Q. Since exercise increases the appetite, why is it recommended for reducers? A. Studies show that increased activity is not followed by a like increase in appetite. The value of exercise is that it burns up the calorie intake faster than sedentary pursuits and thus spreads the reducing process. A fast, half-hour walk disposes of 550 calories and, while it may leave you panting, it would not be for food.

Q. Are there any calorie-free foods? A. Water, plain coffee and tea, and no-cal soft drinks come in at zero. Almost "free" and good for snacking are bouillon, raw vegetables, dieter's gelatins, rye and protein wafers.

WORKERS TAKE DAILY SHAKEUP

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—They're shaking up employees at the Boeing airplane factory here.

The shakeup comes almost daily for 11 volunteers who are strapped into a vibration seat and tested for reactions to being shook up.

The tests are part of a Human Vibration Research Program which is identifying human reactions with different levels of vibrations.

Purpose of the program is to gain data on the effect of vibration on aircraft crew performances.

Engineers know that high frequency vibrations cause pilots difficulty in taking accurate instrument readings. Some pilots find it difficult to move certain controls under vibration conditions. Other pilots experience physical irritations at vibrations.

Joe Beaupre, a director of the current program, said each subject matches the intensity of vibrations, he undergoes to a specified reaction, such as "mildly annoying," "extremely annoying," etc.

"This will give us a band of vibration frequencies which can be applied to the measurement of human abilities under certain conditions," he said.

Engineers know that all vibration cannot be eliminated from planes. But they hope that the tests will help train pilots to perform properly under extreme conditions

Vibrations produced by a hydraulic cylinder connected to an aircraft seat shake the workers from one to 30 cycles per second and within amplitudes from 20 inches at the lowest frequency to about 1-64 at the highest frequency.

Vibration test periods range over a span of minutes, depending on the specific date sought. The average shake test lasts eight minutes.

How to choose a great beer every time

IT all started over 80 years ago, when the Brooklyn Bridge was brand new.

Gottfried Piel had recently come over from Germany. He was a beer lover and he missed the kind of beer they made in the old country.

The tiny Landser Brewery in the section of Brooklyn known as East New York was for sale. Gottfried decided to buy it and make some beer the way he thought it ought to be made.

He wrote to his brother Michael, a young brewmaster still living in Germany. "Don't buy any brewery," Michael wrote back, "until I check the water."

Michael Piel sailed the ocean and arrived in Brooklyn and was delighted with the sparkling artesian well water. The brothers bought the brewery and, naturally, renamed it Piel Brothers.

The original Piel Brothers brewery in East New York measured only 50 by 75 feet.

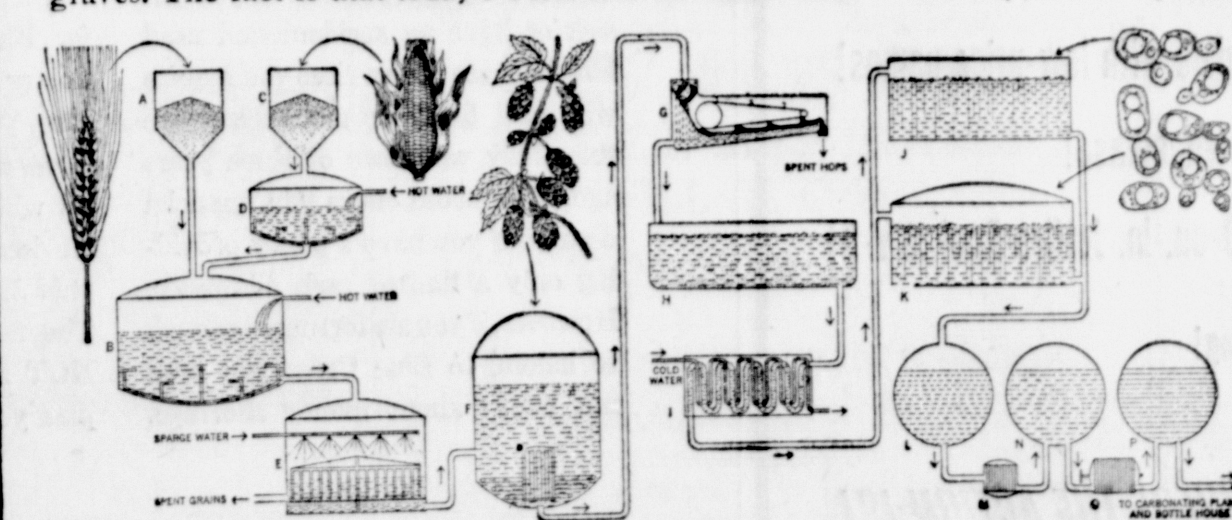

The first year they produced 850 barrels. Michael hardly ever went home. He was all over the brewery like three men, tasting and watching and sniffing. (He had a fantastic nose. Hunting, he could track a woodchuck with it. He could outsniff any hound dog around.) He was almost fanatical about his beer and there were days when Gottfried was sure he should have left Michael in Germany.

But Michael knew what he was doing and the neighboring farmers spread the news of the terrific lager beer which was being served up at the Piel Brothers Beer Garden. Even Michael's wife was caught in the spirit. She made fabulous marinated herring to go with the beer, and they came on bicycles from miles around.

Before long Piel beer was being delivered to such far away places as Manhattan and Hoboken, New Jersey.

Michael Piel and Gottfried Piel are long since gone. But their portraits still hang side by side in the brewery. The message is clear: Don't make it fast. Keep making it good.

The brothers have never had reason to turn over in their graves. The fact is that today's Piel is a far better beer

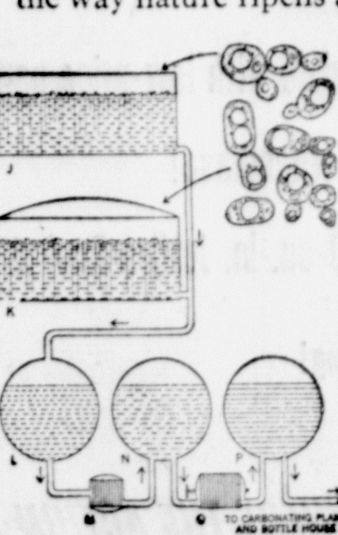

PIEL'S PEAK FLAVOR BREWING PROCESS is outlined in this flow chart. The barley is ground and placed in the malt hopper (a). From there it goes to the mash tub (b). Corn is placed in the adjunct hopper (c), boiled in the adjunct cooker (d) and added to the mash. The malt wort is then filtered in the lauter tub (e). The clear wort goes to the brew kettle (f), where hops are added. The hops are removed by the hop strainer (g). Other substances by a settling tank (h). The wort is now cooled (i) and sent to open (j) and closed (k) fermenting tanks. In the closed tank natural carbonation is collected and saved. After fermentation the beer goes to lagering tanks (l,n,p) passing through filters (m). When the beer matures to peak flavor, it is then naturally carbonated with its own carbonation previously collected in the fermenting tank.

than it ever was in "the good old days."

Because beer is a natural product, it tends to vary from batch to batch. That's why it is so difficult to make a great tasting beer every time. But it is not impossible.

We do it. The hard way.

Piel's brewmaster compares the brewing of beer with the way nature ripens an apple on a tree.

Piels invites you to read a beer advertisement that's taken 80 years to write.

"There's a point when it's perfect. At its peak. Beer is the same. Too soon and you've got green beer. Too late and you've got flat beer."

What he does not say is that he watches each batch like a hawk to catch it at its peak.

It's not a 9 to 5 job. (Just ask his wife.)

When the moment comes, Piel's brewmaster gives the word and, with a big, black pencil, assigns the brewmaster registry number. (You'll find a number on every bottle and can of Piel's. In the picture above the number is on the bottom of the can.)

In a world where even brewing beer has been automated, this is Piel's way of saying to you, this one is different. This is beer caught at its peak.

For over 80 years there have been no secrets in the Piel's brewing process. There have been no shortcuts either.

Just honest men making good beer the way they believe it ought to be made. The hard way. No artificial aging agents. No artificial carbonation. (The head on Piel's Bert and Harry, famous Piel's television spokesmen. Harry is the quiet, unassuming brewmaster and Bert is the somewhat boisterous sales manager.

beer is a natural head. And the Piel's you get in bottles and cans is the same Piel's you get on draft, except for pasteurization. We don't make two kinds of beer.)

When you take a swig of Piel's and the foam sticks to your upper lip and you swallow it in one big gulp you know you're drinking the McCoy.

Jimmy Breslin, syndicated newspaper columnist, is a big Piel's drinker. He puts it this way: "Somebody's doing a day's work at the Piel's brewery."

Look for this seal and the brewmaster's registry number on every bottle and can of Piel's.

It means this is beer caught at its peak. (Too soon, you get green beer. Too late, you get flat beer.) Not a single ounce of Piel's leaves the brewery without the Brewmaster giving the word. That's what Piel's Peak Flavor Seal is all about.

LEGISLATION ON PROJECT 70 BEING READIED

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate Forests and Waters Committee returned today to put the final touches on enabling legislation for Project 70 before bringing it to the floor for a showdown.

"We're going to move this bill as soon as possible," said Committee chairman Z. H. Confair, R-Lycoming, as the legislature began clearing the decks for final adjournment, hopefully within the next two weeks.

But despite the drive, Sen. Robert D. Fleming, chairman of Senate Appropriations Committee, said he plans a careful study of the $1.069 billion general appropriation bill approved by the House Monday.

CONSIDER AMENDMENTS

Enabling legislation for Project 70 the state's $70 million open space program, has been stalled in the Forests and Waters Committee since its introduction last February.

Several major amendments have been proposed, including the establishment of admission fees to new state parks created under Project 70.

However, the committee was reportedly in favor of leaving this decision to the state's Forests and Waters Department.

OPPOSED BY GODDARD

Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of Forests and Waters, has said repeatedly he opposes admission fees to state parks. The enabling legislation sets down guidelines for spending the $70 million bond issue approved by the voters last fall for acquisition of park lands and open space areas.

The plan calls for $40 million to be used for new state parks in 43 counties were "breathing space" is at a minimum; $20 million for matching funds to establish local parks; and $10 million for acquisition of new hunting and fishing areas.

Meanwhile, Fleming said he expects little opposition to the extra $2.3 million added by the House to Gov. Scranton's proposed $1.168 billion budget for fiscal 1964-65.

FINANCIAL

The proposal for additional funds, aimed at bolstering support of the Commonwealth's 14 state colleges, is causing some financial headaches in the front office, but is expected to remain intact.

The House also approved $34.6 million in nonpreferred appropriations Monday for state-aided schools and private institutions, including $25.1 million for Penn State University.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

In other legislative developments: Confirmations—The Senate approved nearly 100 appointments made by Gov. Scranton to various state boards, commissions and agencies.

Education—The House approved 175-0 and sent to the Senate a bill allocating $500,000 for special research and study projects by the State Board of Education.

Constitutional amendments—A proposal to eliminate a section of the state constitution dealing with railroads and canals was approved by the House and sent to the Senate on a vote of 181-0. New Legislators — Victor J.

Unconscious Man At Top Of Stack Saved

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — "It was just one of those things. Just a slight accident. I'll be going back up again."

Those were the words of Anthony Rose, 35, of Allentown, who became sickened by smoke and fumes atop a 150-foot smoke stack Monday, fell unconscious, and was rescued — Alpine style — by three men after more than an hour.

A timber across the mouth of the smokestack was all that kept Rose from falling. The three rescuers scaled the metal rungs on the outside of the steel smoke stack, looped a rope around his waist and brought him down.

Rose was one of three men inspecting the smokestack on assignment from the New Jersey Chimney Co., Wilmington, Del. The smokestack is located at the Alan Wood Steel Co., in Swedeland.

SCRANTON TO MAKE 6 TRIPS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton will combine industrial development and politics during six out-of-state appearances in the next month.

Today Scranton has a meeting on tap in Wilmington, Del., in an attempt to persuade officials of DuPont to expand their operations in the state.

The governor is scheduled to go to Detroit, Mich., Wednesday to confer with officials of General Motors on the possibility of bringing an assembly plant into the Commonwealth.

On June 2, he has a date to speak on the state's industrial development program to the Commercial Club of Chicago.

He plans to attend the annual governor's conference June 6-10 in Cleveland.

The governor has agreed to a speaking appearance June 23 at the New Jersey Republican State Committee fund-raising dinner at Newark.

SENATORIAL SYMPATHY

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate sent its sympathies Monday to the family and friends of Dr. Philip David Bookstaber, a long time Harrisburg rabbi and a recognized leader in Jewish affairs.

Dr. Bookstaber died May 20.

Westerberg, R-McKean, and Elmer S. Geiss, D-Northampton, who won special elections to fill House vacancies at the April 28 elections, were given the oath of office.

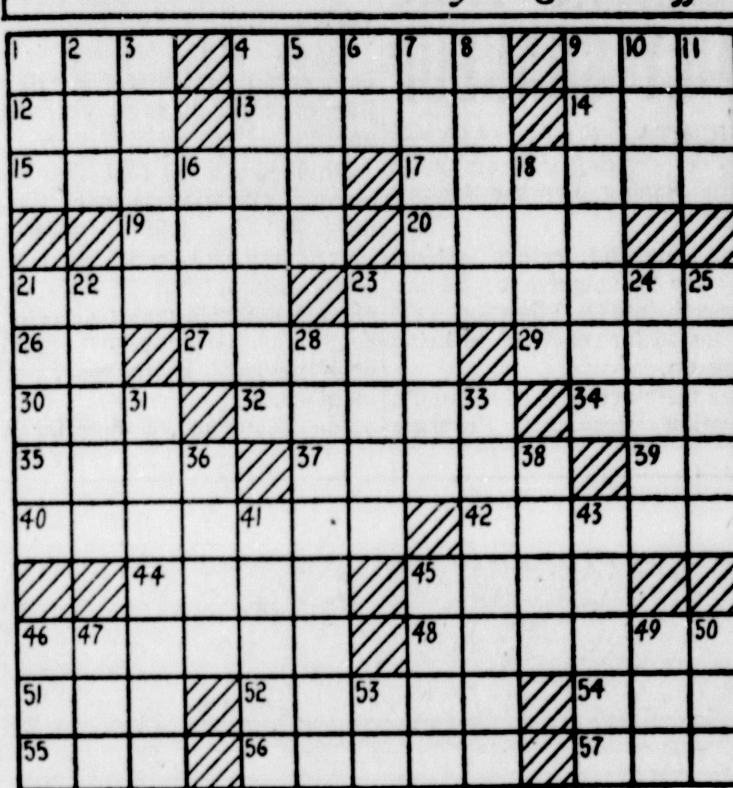

ELECT ESHLEMAN

House Whip — Rep. Edwin D. Eshleman, R-Lancaster, was elected Republican assistant floor leader by his colleagues to succeed Morton H. Fetterolf, R-Montgomery who won a special election in the Senate.

Investigations—Rep. James J. A. Gallagher, D-Bucks, accused the Scranton administration of "closing the door" on his independent investigation of civil service firings by advising department heads to ignore his request for information.

Appalachia—The Scranton administration asked the legislature to approve a $15,000 appropriation to finance the Commonwealth's share of expenses for participation in the President's Appalachian Regional Commission.

EASY-TO-PACK HAT WARDROBE

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ladies are tossing their hats into the political ring this year. They are jamming them into suitcases and heading for the hustings.

This is great for women and possibly politics. But it is hard on hats. That is, it is ordinarily.

This year the millinery industry is right on top of things, particularly the heads of barnstorming distaffers, with tossable, packable, vote-garnering chapeaux.

Or is it the other way around? Being a practical lot, have women been waiting all this time for the kind of hats that could take such punishment before carelessly flinging them into that brutal arena?

Whichever way it is — hats, women, history — everything, except females to take to the stump.

Thus the pretty partisan is now able to cram into a small bag, not only one or two, but a huge hat wardrobe to see her through smoke-filled caucuses, coffee klatches, $100-a-plate dinners and convention chaos all the way up to the time she flashes a victorious smile for the clamoring press.

On the way to victory she can change her mood according to her conscience, being either as beguiling and feminine as a bride at breakfast or as candid and erudite as an electronic brain, but a whole lot more elegant.

Actually, these hats win any woman's vote. They are just as packable and wearable to a non-partisan on the way to Iran or

WILLIAMS IS ONLY SINGLE APOLLO - MAN

HOUSTON (AP) — The United States' only bachelor astronaut is happy with things the way they are — but he is willing to sign up a copilot.

He is Marine Capt. Curtis C. Williams Jr., 31, of Mobile, Ala. — one of the 14 Apollo astronauts training at the Manned Spacecraft Center here.

He also is tall, dark and good-looking, in a cherubic sort of way, with the polite, pleasant manner of a true gentleman of Dixie.

His friends in the military call him C.C., his old school chums call him Curtis, and his folks call him Jim.

Williams likes his bachelor life, but is open to changing it. He doesn't have a special girl. "I'm still looking," he says.

Did being named an astronaut change his views about marriage?

Replies the Marine flier: "I haven't noticed any significant change whatever. I feel just the same. I'm still the same person I've always been."

Neither have his views about marriage changed. "Sure, I want to get married."

"I've been a bachelor long enough that I'm not going to jump out of the state quickly. Marriage is for life. It's not something I take lightly."

What qualities is he looking for in a wife?

"I don't know — I hope I recognize them when I find them."

While physical attractiveness certainly is desirable, he adds, a good personality is far more important.

Everytime somebody asks him why he wants to go to the moon, the bachelor boy relates, he gives them a different answer. "It's difficult to answer why." Mainly, though, and briefly, the reason is simply: "I guess because it's there."

"Naturally," he would like to be on the first moon trip. Anticipated date for the lunar landing is "before the end of this decade."

Meanwhile, the new Apollo boys are pretty busy. They have orientation and training, have to keep up their flight proficiency and satisfy various other duties. They also have homework to do and are on what they call a "fluid" schedule.

Recreation time this spring probably will find Capt. Williams heading for a lake or a golf course. He looks like an athlete.

Pakistan. They are just as flattering to a lower case social party girl as to a Republican or Democratic Party girl.

In fact any woman is sure to campaign for more of these chapeaux that unselfishly consume no baggage room, yet bounce dutifully into shape the moment they are needed. Their platform is that they do away with hat boxes, and are the salvation of any woman on the go.

And what woman isn't on the go, whatever her politics?

540 BALLOTS UP TO COURT

HARRISBURG (AP) — The fate of 540 challenged absentee ballots cast in Philadelphia in the Blatt-Musmanno Democratic Senate race rests today in the hands of the State Supreme Court.

The high court heard arguments Monday over the validity of the ballots voted in the primary election between Genevieve Blatt and Justice Michael A. Musmanno for the party's nomination to the U. S. Senate.

Musmanno, a member of the court who ran for the nomination with organization backing, did not sit on the bench for the arguments.

Miss Blatt, the three-term secretary of internal affairs who made an independent bid for the nomination, sat in the back of the crowded courtroom.

Her supporters filed a plea with the court contending they were denied due process of law when the Philadelphia Board of Elections refused to grant hearings on the challenged ballots.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some 38 white and Negro clergymen and laymen, under the auspices of the Greater Philadelphia Council of Churches, were scheduled to meet today with Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., to discuss the status of the civil rights bill.

The group demonstrated the support of Protestant churches in the Philadelphia area for cloture and passage of the bill.

MISS BLATT'S LEAD CLIMBS TO 714 VOTES

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, has increased her statewide lead to 714 votes over Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the State Supreme Court in their tight race for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate.

Miss Blatt gained 469 votes on Monday as the recheck of Philadelphia voting machines neared completion. Since the total machine recount was ordered, Miss Blatt has picked up 910 votes in Philadelphia, where over 20 per cent of the state's nearly 1 million Democratic ballots were cast.

Only 13 of the city's 60 wards remain to be rechecked and this is expected to be completed today.

60,000 MARGIN
In Philadelphia, Musmanno leads by some 60,000 votes in the unofficial tally.

Newsman, for comparative purposes, are crediting Miss Blatt with the 910 vote net gain over the unofficial tally which was tabulated by Philadelphia newspapers. There could, of course, be some variance between the official figure and the unofficial figure.

Normally, this amounts to a handful of votes.

When the recount began in Philadelphia a week ago, Musmanno had a statewide lead — based on the official and unofficial count throughout the state — of 171. Miss Blatt's lead of 714 was arrived at by crediting her with the 910 vote net gain in Philadelphia, along with a hand full of absentee votes tallied in Somerset, Allegheny and Washington County.

ANOTHER RECOUNT
Miss Blatt lost two votes Monday when the Washington County Court threw out 22 of 28 challenged ballots and of the remainder gave four to Musmanno and two to her.

Musmanno's unofficial total in Washington County stood at 20,000 votes, while Miss Blatt had 16,432.

Meanwhile, in Pittsburgh, Miss Blatt's supporters asked Allegheny County Court for a recount of two voting districts in nearby McKees Rocks.

President Judge Henry Ellenbogen set June 8 and 11 as dates for the check.

MYTHOLOGY IN NEW MEXICO
Villa Exonerated For Columbus Raid; Americans Hired Him To Do It

EDUCATIONAL EXPERTS are having a hard time with the quite commonplace term "junior college." There was a time when everyone thought he knew what the words meant. But not now.

I thought I knew until I happened to be thumbing through the "Dictionary of Education." It took that well known opus nearly 200 words to arrive at a definition.

Then, to make sure the reader fully understood the definition, there was a listing of 17 different types of junior colleges. That merely confused the issue. The 17 different types of institutions did not add up to a sufficient similarity to warrant the use of a single, descriptive term for all.

Indeed, reference to fifth edition of the Directory of Junior Colleges revealed a listing of 590 educational institutions, 240 of them not accredited, that the editors considered junior colleges. For the same year, 1960, the World Almanac saw fit to list about 620. A slightly earlier report, written by two experts for the federal government who had adopted definitions of their own, cut the number for that year to less than 300.

I DECIDED to stick to the Directory. But close scrutiny revealed the listing of sundry institutions as junior colleges that did not even call themselves junior colleges — or even colleges.

Some preferred such names as institute, seminary, academy and some settled for the word "campus." Ogontz Campus, for example, considers itself an adopted child of Pennsylvania State University. An appreciable number did have the words "junior college" in the chosen name, but scores of them have such names as high school and the first two years toward a four-year degree.

Indeed, it is two years of further education or skills training, following high school, that apparently gets them into the Junior College Directory. It is the one and only characteristic that appears to be common to all of them.

But what goes into those two years is almost anything and everything. No less than 28 (15 of them in California) offer courses in architecture; 25 (16 of them in California) offer sequences in art; four, all of them in California, offer courses in chiropody and chiropactic; one, also in California, in osteopathy; 22 (10 of them in California) offer training in optometry; three (one each in Mich., Mass. and N. Y.) go in for hotel management; 28 specialize in industrial arts and industrial management; 41, scattered among 18 states of the Union, offer two years of journalism.

Library science, medical technology, practical nursing, mortuary science, occupational therapy, physical therapy, physical education, police science, public health, social work, speech and drama, wildlife conservation and X-ray technology are also found in representative numbers of institutions listed as junior colleges.

Some announce terminal courses in advertising, banking, insurance and real estate, body and fender repair, gunsmithing, religion and restaurant management, as well as about all the other skills known to modern trade, commerce and industry.

In the smaller towns and junior colleges the first two years of conventional college and university courses toward a four-year degree are most common. In fact, the first impetus of the junior Receives Master's Degree At Mich.

Hugh M. McIlhenny, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. McIlhenny, R. 6, received a Master of Science degree in Pharmaceutical Chemistry at the commencement exercises of the University of Michigan last Friday at Ann Arbor. President Johnson gave the commencement address.

Mr. and Mrs. McIlhenny will continue to reside at Ann Arbor while he remains in the graduate school of the university while he completes work for a doctorate in the same field.

He is a 1956 graduate of Gettysburg High School, was graduated from Penn State University in 1960 and worked as a research chemist for the Parke Davis Company in Detroit before entering graduate school.

college movement was in the nature of a revolt against the over-centralization of conventional college opportunity in many states. This was particularly true in Iowa.

ENROLLMENTS range up to twenty-five or thirty thousand in some of the cities, but part-time and night students are often counted as if they were full time. Keeping them separated, particularly in the short, non-credit courses, is more trouble than the statistics are worth.

Throughout America these junior colleges are perhaps touching the lives, part time or full time, of 800,000 people. Some are young. Some are far beyond conventional college age.

And such is the educational wonderland of the junior colleges. One might define them as any educational institution offering instruction, or training, in more or less well organized curriculums through two years following a conventional high school education. On the other hand, some short courses are measured in weeks and months.

When a river or stream meanders, it is imitating the vagaries of the ancient Maeander, in Asia Minor. The river is now called by its Turkish name, Buyuk Menderes.

Retired Airman Ends Sky Diving

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Chief Warrant Officer Edward J. (Spook) Murray retired from the Air Force this year after 548 parachute jumps for purposes ranging from World War II combat to research on escape from disabled aircraft.

Now that he's through jumping professionally, Murray says there'll be no parachuting for sport, explaining: "I never did believe much in sky diving."

Health

Man and snakes fear each other. Snakes defend, when molested. Some snakebites are poisonous. In number, rattlesnakes lead.

Advice to first aiders:
Apply tourniquet properly. Keep the bitten person quiet. Give no alcoholic stimulants. Get the victim to a hospital where antivenin is available. Nationwide, 3,000 bites yearly. Fatal results, under 20.

AMENDMENT PROPOSALS IN HOUSE TODAY

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House turned its attention today to constitutional amendments after approving the last of the major money bills for the 1964-65 fiscal year.

Nine proposals to amend the 90-year old constitution, some of them proposed by the Scranton administration, were on the House agenda.

Monday, the House passed and sent to the Senate the $1.069 billion general appropriations bill, a $500,000 educational research measure and $34.6 million worth of state grants to private schools and institutions.

TO STUDY BILL

They are the principal items in the $1.167 billion spending program recommended by Gov. Scranton for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Chairman Robert Fleming of the Senate Appropriations Committee predicted his group would study the bill for a week before releasing it to the floor.

He indicated that only minor changes, if any, would be made in the bill, including the $2.3 million added by the House for the state's 14 public colleges.

The general appropriations bill contains the bulk of the money for state government operations in the next 12 months.

EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH

The education research projects, to be conducted by the State Board of Education, are (with amounts earmarked):

- Quality education, $166,500;
- support of public schools, $31,300;
- community colleges, $73,000;
- a master plan for higher education, $104,200; and
- vocational and technical education, $125,000.

The bill requires the board to make progress reports every six months.

Included among the special appropriations were $25.1 million for Pennsylvania State University and $6.85 million for the University of Pennsylvania. There was one opposing vote on the Penn State bill and seven on the Penn measure.

AMENDMENTS LOSE

Rep. Edward McNally, D-Cambria, who two weeks ago tried to cut in half all appropriations to private institutions, took a new tack by introducing an amendment that would have given commonwealth residents a 20 per cent discount at Penn. It was defeated 67-102.

McNally also offered an amendment to the Penn State bill that would have required the University to make an annual accounting of its expenditures to members of the legislature. The amendment was beaten 75-98.

Rep. Walter Morley, D-Philadelphia, cast the only dissenting vote on the Penn State bill.

8 HOUSES RUINED $15,000 IN HOMES

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — About 100 men, swinging clubs, axes and sledgehammers, swept through eight houses in a non-union project near Independence Hall Monday, causing $15,000 damage.

Roy Fuiman, the developer, who made the damage estimate, said the gang had raced through in five minutes, breaking windows and frames, ripping out railings and rainspouts, and chopping holes in ceilings and walls.

Six men were hurt while trying to flee.

Fuiman told police he had been warned last weekend there would be trouble.

Police Lt. Michael Levin of the labor squad said members of the AFL-CIO Building Trades Council had picketed the project last March.

45 MARRIED POLICE WILL BE GRADUATED

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania State Police Academy at nearby Hershey will graduate its first married men Thursday.

E. Wilson Purdy, commissioner, will present diplomas to 78 graduates, including 45 married men, at ceremonies beginning at 10 a.m.

The department recently revised its qualification standards to permit married men to apply for the force.

Cadet John H. Kauffman of Pleasant Gap, Centre County, a father of six children, will deliver the commencement address on behalf of the class.

Special awards will be presented.

He has voted against all money bills for nonstate controlled schools on grounds the funds should go to the state colleges.

Morley was co-author of an amendment adopted two weeks ago to give an additional $165,000 to each of the 14 state colleges.

OTHERS TO SENATE

Other nonpreferred appropriations bills sent to the Senate would give:

- $583,200 to the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy;
- $1,666,800 to hospitals for part of the cost of training student nurses;
- $122,590 to Children's Heart Hospital, Philadelphia;
- $326,737 to the Eaglesville Sanatorium;
- $85,150 to the Pittsburgh Home for Crippled Children;
- $36,400 to the Lancaster Heart Association;
- $62,280 to the Philadelphia Psychiatric Hospital;
- $10,750 to the Rush Hospital, Malvern;
- $85,130 to the Zem Zem Hospital for Crippled Children.

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — CBS-TV, with 13 awards — five of them via the "Dick Van Dyke Show," — is big winner today of the 16th annual television Emmy Awards.

"It sure pays to boycott," said the handsome Van Dyke, clutching his first Emmy for best actor. "I bet CBS is sorry now they started this whole thing—or maybe they're glad."

Van Dyke was referring to the CBS and ABC boycott of the Emmy show Monday night. Both networks had charged NBC-TV with bloc voting in previous awards.

The Van Dyke show also won Emmies for best writing, best directing, best comedy and best actress—Mary Tyler Moore.

The other CBS winners were "The Danny Kaye Show" for electronic photography; best original drama—Ernest Kinoy for "The Blacklist" segment of "The Defenders"; best drama—"The Defenders"; best single performance by an actor—Jack Klugman in "Blacklist" of "Defenders"; best music—Robert Scherer for "The Danny Kaye Show"; best variety show—"The Danny Kaye Show" and best variety performer—Danny Kaye.

When Born At Sea Are You A Yankee?

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Is Barbara Benita Mejias, born in an open boat in which her parents fled Cuba, an American or Cuban citizen?

The decision may depend on the log of the British frigate Tartar, which plucked the refugees from the boat April 30.

Immigration officer Joseph Minton said Monday that Cmdr. B. C. G. Hutchings has been asked to report the longitude and latitude of the pickup.

If Barbara was born within three miles of the U.S. coast, she's American.

Barbara's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andres Mejias, are hoping she'll be an American.

BOY HELD FOR ARSON FACES NEW CHARGE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Juvenile authorities say they have uncovered a plot by a 17-year-old boy, serving time for arson and intoxication, to murder an official of the home where he is imprisoned.

Officials at Pennypack House, juvenile wing of the house of correction, say they found a letter written by David Weston describing how and where the killing could be done.

Dr. Leonard Rosengarten, director of the Philadelphia County Court's juvenile division, said Weston denied writing the letter, which was addressed to his brother, Dennis.

LETTER UNDER MATTRESS

The name of the official marked by Weston was withheld.

The reason for the attempt on the official's life was given in the letter as "he is trying to get me sent to the hill" (apparently a reference to the state correctional school at Camp Hill, a maximum security institution).

The letter was found, hidden under a mattress in Weston's cell, during a guard's routine check.

Weston is scheduled to be released June 11.

Judge J. Sydney Hoffman ordered the boy brought before him for a hearing Wednesday.

JFK TV SHOW ON BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

By BERNIE GOULD
NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy looked over mementos of her late husband and remarked, almost in a whisper, "I suppose the photographs are the hardest to look at."

The pictures showed the late President Kennedy with his family as a boy, playing with his own children, campaigning.

This Friday would have been the 47th birthday of Kennedy, killed by an assassin last Nov. 22. The birthday anniversary will be marked by an international television program, "JFK: May 29, 1964," in which his widow will take part.

TRAVELING EXHIBIT

Mrs. Kennedy was here Monday to inaugurate a traveling exhibit of his mementos. She made the comment about his photographs after a reporter asked what part of the exhibit impressed her most.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy also attended the preview.

After a nationwide tour, the mementos will be put on display in the library planned at Harvard University to house Kennedy's papers.

The exhibit at the International Business Machines Corp. building will be open to the public today through June 6. It then moves to more than a score of cities. The tour ends Oct. 18 in San Francisco.

Two Members Of House Sworn In

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House swore in two new members Monday, raising the political makeup to 108 Republicans and 98 Democrats.

Reps. Victor J. Westerberg, R-McKean, and Elmer S. Geiss, D-Northampton, were inducted in a brief ceremony witnessed by members of their families.

Judge James S. Bowman, who resigned from the House last year to go on the Dauphin County Common Pleas Court, administered the oaths.

Both won special elections on April 28 to fill vacancies. Westerberg succeeds U. S. Rep. Albert W. Johnson and Geiss succeeds the late Gus P. Verona.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Francis Hutter, 84, former secretary and director of the McCall Corp., died Monday.

Hutter, who was born in Vienna, came to the United States in 1914 and in 1916 became director of fashion publications and pattern production for McCall's.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Hugh Payne Sr., 60, head of the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation since its formation in 1947, died Monday of a heart ailment.

Dozens Of Ducks Causing Trouble

GIBRALTAR, Mich. (AP) — A couple of dozen mallards are making themselves at home in this Detroit suburb, but their days as town characters may be numbered.

The ducks waddle around town quacking for handouts. They have been known to march down the aisles of a grocery store and lay their eggs wherever they please.

One businessman said he was tired of having the ducks stop traffic at his store. He is fed up with having to hose down his parking lot every week.

He confided: "If I thought I could get away with it, I'd like to go out and wring a few necks tonight."

NON-UNION JOB IS RAIDED BY GANG OF THUGS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — City detectives and the labor squad began an investigation today into a swift raid on a nonunion housing project which caused a reported $15,000 damage.

A gang of about 100 men, swinging clubs, axes and sledgehammers and hurling bricks and stones Monday swept through eight houses in the project located near historic Independence Hall in downtown Philadelphia.

The housing project has been picketed because of the use of nonunion labor, according to Roy Fulman, the developer. Fulman who made the damage estimates, said the gang raced through in five minutes, breaking out windows and frames, ripping out railings and rainspouts and chopping holes in walls.

SIX MEN HURT

Six men were hurt while trying to flee.

Fulman, who told police he had been warned last weekend there would be trouble, said he advised his workers to run, not fight.

"I've asked for police protection," Fulman said, "and I haven't been able to get it."

POLICE HAD LEFT

Police had come to the project in the morning, but left in half an hour when nothing untoward happened.

Fulman said the gang came minutes later.

"They came and went so fast I couldn't tell where they fled," he said.

Fulman said he didn't recognize any of the attackers. They carried no signs.

Police Lt. Michael Lavin of the labor squad said sign-carrying members of the AFL-CIO Building Trades Council picketed the project last March.

CONFAIR BILL GAINS BACKING

HARRISBURG (AP) — Another attempt to broaden the state's borrowing powers and to eliminate the authority method of financing Commonwealth construction has been started in the Senate by Sen. Z. H. Confair.

The Lycoming County Republican, who has made similar attempts previously, picked up bipartisan support Monday in his new effort to amend the constitution to eliminate the General State Authority and the Highway and Bridge Authority.

All long term debts would have to be authorized by law under the Confair proposal, requiring approval by the legislature and the people.

Under present law the state is prohibited from incurring any debt over $1 million, except in times of emergency. Most of the borrowing is handled by GSA, the state's "borrow and build" agency. The School Building Authority would be the only state borrowing agency not affected by the proposal.

The Confair bill, hailed by its backers as a means of saving money by cutting interest rates was referred to the Committee on Legislation.

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Philip H. Savage, tri-state secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, who was charged with inciting to riot during civil rights demonstrations here April 24, has been freed in $2,500 bail.

The charge stemmed from a riot which culminated in a series of disturbances over alleged de facto segregation in Chester schools.
